FDR Will Send Mission To Moscow After Quebec Meeting

To Give Stalin Details Of Plan Of Second Front

Envoy Expected To Dispel Russian Disquiet Over Bearing Brunt Of Attack

MAY SEND WELLES AS SPECIAL ENVOY

Britain Likely To Send Anthony Eden, Or Churchill May Make Trip In Person

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON Aug. 20—President Roosevelt will dispatch a special diplomatic envoy to Moscow immediately after the Quebec conference with a personal message to Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin outlining plans for an Anglo-American attack on "Fortress Europe" this year.

This urgent mission, authoritative quarters here said today will be undertaken to quell Russian disquiet over having to bear the full brunt of Germany's land and air army attacks for the past two years.

Answer Demands

The message from President Roosevelt to Stalin, and a like message from Prime Minister Winston Churchill, is expected to answer in full Russia's insistent demands that an Allied attack be launched somewhere in Western Europe which will occupy a substantial part of Hitler's huge land army.

The importance of the new "mission to Moscow" is emphasized by Russia's creation of a free German committee, whose propaganda to

Governor Names Supt. Haas Again

Head Of Public Instruction Re-appointed For Four Year Term

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 20.—The reappointment of Dr. Francis B. Haas as state superintendent of public instruction for a second four-year term expiring in 1947, was announced today by Gov. Edward Martin. The post pays $12,000 a year.

Doctor Haas is from Bloomsburg. He was originally named head of the state educational system by former Gov. Arthur H. James in 1939. His term would have expired next Monday.

Doctor Haas was born in Philadelphia 59 years ago. He was educated in the Philadelphia public schools, Temple university and the University of Pennsylvania. He served as teacher and principal in Philadelphia schools from 1906 to 1920, when he accepted a position as a staff member of the department of public instruction.

From 1925 to 1927 he was superintendent of public instruction, leaving the cabinet post to become president of Bloomsburg State Teachers college, where he remained until 1939.

He is married and has three children.

Deshon Hospital Fund Gets $3,597

Boxing Tournament Here On July 30 Nets Handsome Fund For Hospital

As the result of the boxing tournament held at Taggart Stadium, Friday night, July 30, for the benefit of the Deshon General hospital in Butler, the recreation and entertainment fund of the hospital is richer by $3597.82 today. On Thursday night, August 19, a group of the committee backing the boxing show went to Butler and L. B. Round, general chairman of the affair presented Col C. J. Gentzkow, commandant with a certified check in the amount stated.

Col. Gentzkow was delighted with the check and said, "this is a magnificent thing the people of New Castle have done for the Deshon General hospital. There are so many uses to which the money can be put and all of them will benefit the wounded men who are patients in the hospital. We are gratified at the interest New Castle people have in the hospital. This check will be an inspiration to other communities that want to help."

Gas Allotments To Be Increased

Promise 50-60 Percent Increase For Pittsburgh Tomorrow, For Buses-Trucks

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 20.—Gasoline available for distribution through the Pittsburgh district will be increased from 50 to 60 per cent of estimated normal requirements tomorrow, and there probably will be an additional increase in allotments on September first, the local agency of the petroleum administration for war announced today.

The increase, to be effective Saturday through August 31, the final quota period of the month, was made possible, the PAW said, by government permission to local oil companies to tap a pipe line which passes through the district carrying "oil products" to the East Coast area.

Simultaneously, permission was also granted to unload two river barges of gasoline, originally consigned to the East, which were en route up river from southwest production fields.

The PAW said the quota increase is expected to alleviate acute shortages which have existed in the Pittsburgh district for the past 10 days. The increase doesn't mean, however, a PAW spokesman warned, that there will be any substantial rise in amounts of gas available to motorists at service stations.

He said the new allotments were intended exclusively for essential transportation services such as bus lines and commercial truckers.

Navy Takes Chain Of Seven Islands North Of Sicily

Capture Of Stromboli Puts Marines 37 Miles West Of The Italian Mainland

ALLIED BOMBERS HITS RAILWAY YARDS

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 20.—The seven islands of the Lipari and Stromboli chain north of Sicily have fallen to the United States Navy, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced today as Allied warships pummeled both coasts of the Calabrian peninsula United States bombers loosed devastating assaults on railway yards and power installations at Foggia, 80 miles northeast of Naples.

Marines Take Over

American Marines took over control of the two main islands of Lipari and Stromboli and the occupation placed the whole group known as the Aeolians at the disposal of the Allies.

Capture of Stromboli put the American Marines 37 miles west of the Italian mainland and marked the first time that Marines had set foot on European territory. The islands of 20 years have served as a place of detention and have little military value other than that they will be useful as observation posts On Stromboli there is a still active volcano and its red glow provides a picturesque sight for all ships plying the area.

Foggia was attacked in strength by flying fortresses of the North African air force and this assault was followed closely with a raid by B-24 Liberator bombers from the Middle East.

The one-two punch of the American heavy bombers created considerable havoc among the railway yards, electric power plants and the industrial area. The fortresses and escorting planes accounted for 34 Axis fighter planes and the Liberators destroyed at least four. Another 12 were listed as probably destroyed.

Hit Target Area

The preceding night British Wellington bombers laced the same target area and photographs revealed that the railway lines to Naples, Bari and elsewhere were cut and that numerous fires were blazing.

Marauder bombers and other medium groups fanned out over southern Italy to devastate railway yards at Sapri. Mitchells pounded Salerno while much-bombed Cantanzero, on the arch of the boot, was focal point for still another assault. Trains at Cosenza were hit

Gotham Papers Hit By Strike

Union Official Term Strike Of Indepent Mailers "Unlawful"

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Delivery of more than a dozen New York newspapers was threatened with disruption today following the calling of a "wildcat" strike by members of the newspaper and mailers' union employed by independent distributors. Those publications having their own delivery services were not affected.

First intimation of the walkout which officials of the independent union termed "unauthorized", came last night when a group of delivery men refused to take their trucks out on the streets. Later, scores of other employes reported "sick".

The walkout was said to have been called at a rump meeting in protest of a contract arbitrated by a War Labor Board panel.

STATE TRAVEL CUT

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 20.—A 30 per cent reduction in travel by state cars has been accomplished for the first three months of this year, Gov. Edward Martin disclosed today.

He said a report by Secretary of Revenue David W. Harris revealed a saving of 485,000 gallons of gasoline in comparison with a similar period in 1941. The number of vehicles in use has been cut in half since then, he added.

Kearney Explosion Destroys Building; Fear 18 Are Dead

(International News Service)

KEARNY, N. J., Aug. 20.—Fear was expressed today by authorities that the number of dead in last night's explosion at the Congoleum-Nairn Inc. plant here may reach a total of 15 to 18.

Although only three persons are definitely known to be dead so far, a check of employes time cards at the company's office disclosed during the night that between 12 and 15 persons must be assumed to be missing—possibly buried in the ruins of the factory building which collapsed like a house of sand.

37 Injured

In addition to the known dead and missing, 37 persons were injured, three of them critically.

The blast, which shook Kearny and was heard over a radius of five miles, happened shortly before 6 o'clock last night. Two adjoining buildings of the 12 on the 50-acre site of the company were badly damaged and many of those hurt were in these structures when the explosion let go.

The explosion, cause of which is yet to be determined, was heard five miles from the plant and shook every house in the town of Kearny. Hundreds of windows were smashed, including those of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company in Newark, across the Passaic river.

Building Crumbles

So intense was the force of the blast that the five-story re-inforced concrete structure was reduced to a mass of rubble as walls bulged and crashed to the ground. One woman

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 20.—Large-scale sabotage of German munitions stores in Denmark today resulted in declaration of martial law in several districts and numerous clashes were reported between Danes and Germans.

The situation appeared to be growing more serious hourly as the Danish parliament was summoned into a special session at Copenhagen to cope with the internal crisis.

Many Killed

Both Danes and Germans were reported killed in clashes at Fyen.

Martial law was proclaimed at Svend, Borg and Odense. Hundreds of policemen and many Gestapo agents were dispatched to these points from Copenhagen.

Canners Plead For More Help

Tomatoes Pile Up In Jersey Canneries, Lack Of Help May Mean Spoilage

(International News Service)

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 20.—New Jersey's tomato problem grew still more serious today as hundreds of tons of the fruit poured into canneries and were threatened with spoilage because of lack of help.

In an effort to save the bumper crop which ripened earlier than anticipated, the War Manpower Commission made a second appeal to Fort Dix for soldier volunteers to assist in packing.

To make matters worse, canners last night reported that they were disappointed at the small response following the appeal of Governor Charles Edison for volunteers from all walks of life to save the valuable crop.

Political Stage Reached In Parley

Military Planning Thought Completed Between Roosevelt And Churchill

(BULLETIN)

By ARTHUR HERMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

QUEBEC, Aug. 20.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull will arrive in Quebec early this afternoon to join the Roosevelt-Churchill conferences on war strategy and international political planning.

Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early said Hull will be accompanied by James C. Dunn, an expert on European affairs, who was described by Early as advisor on political affairs to the Secretary of State.

By ARTHUR HERMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

QUEBEC, Que., Aug. 20—The arrival of State Secretary Cordell Hull today is expected to plunge the Roosevelt-Churchill conference here into intensive discussions of the international political situation involving the immediate future as well as the basic frame-work for the post-war world.

Hull undoubtedly will be on hand today, as he announced in Washington yesterday that he would probably leave for the conferences last night.

It is felt here that, as the conferences approach their end, the military planning phase of the work has now been completed, and that the final plans have the stamp of approval of both President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

The last few days of the conference, it is believed, will be concerned with diplomatic and international political developments which have grown out of the war.

Correspondents now anticipate that meetings, in session since August 10, will be finally adjourned on Monday or Tuesday at the very latest. The chief executive plans to visit the Canadian capital city of Ottawa "in the early part of next week" according to White House Secretary Stephen T. Early, and it is generally believed that Mr.

Separate Peace Aim Of Germany

Rumor Plan For Separate Peace With Russia, Then Start Allied Offensive

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 20.—A dispatch from Istanbul to the London Daily Express today declared Germany will try to make a separate peace with Russia, then launch a great military offensive against the allies in the autumn.

The report said political and military preliminaries to these two moves were launched at a recent conference at Adolf Hitler's headquarters.

(A new angle to Germany's two-faced propaganda drive to split the Anglo-American-Soviet alliance was reported by CBS in New York. The German radio was reported as saying a "secret document" in which Premier Joseph Stalin ordered the Russian army to bolshevize Germany "explained" the current Soviet offensive on the eastern front.

(On the other hand, NBC reported Berlin radio propagandists who 10 days ago called Stalin a "bloodthirsty butcher" and "arch-criminal of the Kremlin" now refer to him as "an astute realist" and "that great man and superb leader of a strong, resourceful people.")

Bombers Blast Nazi Airfields 34 Nazis Downed

Raliway Objectives In France And Belgium Pounded In General Raid

By LEO V. DOLAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Aug. 20—British Mosquito bombers blasted targets in Berlin last night and attacked airfield and railway objectives in France and Belgium, the air ministry announced today. Only one bomber was lost.

The new raid on the Nazi capital came on the heels of a pulverizing daylight attack by American Flying Fortresses yesterday on two important German airfields in Holland in which 34 enemy fighters were shot down.

(The German high command said that "nuisance raiders" were over western and northern Germany last night.")

The raid followed earlier daylight attacks by Allied planes on Nazi controlled airfields at Poix, Amiens and Glissy in France in which 16 more enemy fighters were destroyed. That made the total bag of enemy fighters for the day an even 50 and raised the total for the past two days to 150.

(The Federal Communications Commission reported last night that the German DNB transmitter near Berlin and the Paris, Calais and Luxembourg radios had gone off the air, indicating that new Allied air assaults were in the making.)

The Fortresses dropped their bombs on Flushing, main transport plane base from which the Nazis have been raiding Allied shipping in the North Sea, the Gilze-Risen, home base of German bombers and fighters that have been carrying out hit-and-run raids on England.

Six Planes Lost

Swarms of Nazi Interceptors battled the Forts on their way into the target but P-47 Thunderbolt and British and Dominion Spitfires knocked down 18 of them and the heavy bombers accounted for 16 more. Four Fortresses and two fighters were lost, but the pilot of one fighter was rescued.

Originally, the Forts were briefed for Germany, but were diverted by bad weather, some formations were forced to return to their bases with bomb-bays full.

Pre-Pearl Harbor Dads To Be Called

WMC Says "Statistically Certain" Some Fathers Up In October

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—An undetermined number of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers today faced certain draft calls in October.

The war manpower commission said it was "statistically certain" that some fathers would be called to fill October quotas which are "only a shade under" September when 312,000 men are scheduled to enter the armed services.

WMC officials stated there was a "strong possibility" that enough non-deferable fathers would be called, thus eliminating any immediate need for drafting other parents. It was believed, however, this calculation was based on the possible extension of the non-deferable list, and a general exodus of fathers into vital war work.

"Magic Medicine" Stemming Infection For Mrs. Roger E. Francis

Penicillin, the so-called "magic drug", which is doing marvelous work in the armed forces, is bringing results in a New Castle case, it became known today. The priceless drug has been used in the case of Mrs. Roger E. Francis of 1027 Beckford street, who is in the Jameson Memorial hospital with hemolytic streptococcus septicemia.

Somehow a small portion of the drug was secured as a means of stemming the dread infection and several days ago it was used. Today the physicians in charge report that Mrs. Francis is showing decided improvement and hopes are being held that she will effect a complete recovery.

Block Attempt To Reinforce Jap Garrison

Navy Disperses Barges Headed For Vila; Score Near Misses On Merchant Ship

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Aug. 20.—American light naval units today were disclosed to have frustrated new Japanese attempts to reinforce beleaguered garirsons on New Georgia and Kolombangara islands in the central Solomons.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced that enemy barges were dispersed during the night as they attempted to reach Vila, Jap air and supply base on Kolombangara and Bairoko harbor, last pocket of enemy resistance on New Georgia.

Today's communique also confirmed that American troops are on tiny Baanga island, a few miles north of captured Munda on New Georgia. On Baanga, the bulletin said, "a small pocket of enemy resistance which has developed is in process of liquidation."

To the north, two of the allied fighter planes maintaining ceaseless protective patrols over the expanding American holdings in the Solomons, shot down two of six Zeros encountered over Bougainville island.

Heavy bombers scored damaging near-misses on a 7,000-ton merchant vessel nearing Kavieng, big enemy base in New Ireland, and bombed enemy camps on nearby Garove and Mundua island. Long-range fighters swept the coast of New Britain, strafing barges and bombing dumps at Gasmata.

Medium bombers soared west of New Guinea to bomb the Kupang area of Timor island, an airdrome at Fuiloro and jetties at Lautem, causing explosions and fires. Heavy bombers attacked the dock area at Manokwari, Dutch New Guinea, bombed enemy-held villages and objectives in the Tenimber islands, sinking a small coastal ship.

GET BACK PAY

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 20.—All employes of the Oliver Iron and Steel Corporation covered by the CIO-United Steelworkers of America agreement between February and July, 1942, will receive retroactive pay increases of 5½ cents an hour the War Labor Board disclosed today in an order modifying a previous ruling.

The WLB last January directed the company to give a 5½ cents hourly increase to all workers, retroactive to July of last year, employed as of that date.

This decision was appealed by Frank Burke, USWA district director, who successfully contended the retroactive date should begin February, 1942.

DEADLINE FOR PACKAGES

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Midnight of August 27 is the new deadline for the receipt in New York of packages going to prisoners of war and civilian internees in the Far East, the War Department announced today.

The deadline was advanced from September 15 to August 27 as the result of a change in the sailing date of the exchange ship Gripsholm.

MOSCOW, Aug. 20.—The battle for Kharkov roared swiftly toward a climax today as Red army units south of the city pushed back desperately resisting Nazis only six miles from the Ukrainian steel center and threatened momentarily to cut off the city's two remaining railroad exits.

While Soviet units on the south pressed forward in a drive to seal off the Germans' escape corridor, other Russian detachments forged ahead northwest of the city after battles in which 1,500 Germans were killed in the last 24 hours, 30 Nazi tanks were destroyed and large booty captured.

Big Inch Line Breaks Again

Crude Oil From Overland Pipe Line Spreads Over Pennsylvania Farms

(International News Service)

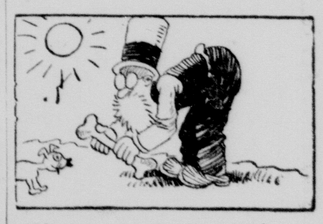

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Aug. 20.—Crude oil from Texas resumed its flow through the big inch pipeline to northern New Jersey refineries today after workmen had repaired a break which spread thousands of gallons of oil over farmlands in the Doylestown area.

With valves closed at New Hope and Lansdale and state troopers standing guard, an emergency crew labored throughout the night inserting a new section of pipe.

In addition to an estimated loss of at least 10,000 gallons of crude oil from this second break in five days, farmers said that thousands of dollars worth of farm property was ruined and that streams into which the oil overflowed will be useless for months.

The break occurred in the section that runs from Phoenixville to Linden, N. J., eastern terminus of the line. The branch line extending from Phoenixville to Marcus Hook was not affected.

OPA Combats Black Market

WORST SITUATION IS POULTRY MARKET

By ERWIN SIAS
(I. N. S Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—The OPA disclosed today that rapid progress is being made in combatting nation-wide black markets in food and added that 120,000 "policing consumers" are putting a crimp in illegal food sales.

In a round-up on the nation's black market situation, an OPA spokesman revealed that the agency's 2490 official investigators are being bolstered by 120,-; 000 war price and ration boards "price panel assistants."

Check Stores

That means, the spokesman pointed out, that there will be one civilian consumer to check on every five of the nation's 600,000 retail food stores to see that prices are kept within government ceilings.

Representing a cross section of the various income and standard of living groups, these price panel assistants investigate consumer complaints and report failures of grocers to adhere to the OPA ceiling orders. Now it is possible, said the OPA spokesman, for a complaining consumer to deal quickly with "out of line" merchants by contacting his local ration board instead of being forced to take court action and sue for triple damages—a long and drawn out process.

Worst of the black market operations is in poultry where a particularly bad situation developed in the "Delamarva" area — Delaware, Maryland and Virginia — one of the largest poultry producing sections of the nation.

KEARNEY EXPLISION DESTROYS BUILDING FEAR 18 ARE DEAD

living some distance away was thrown from her bed and other persons on the streets were knocked to the pavement by the gust of wind which swept the area.

Officials of the company, whose president is U. S. Senator Albert W. Hawkes (R), said it was difficult to check on the number of workers in the structure because the blast happened at about time shifts were changing. The huge plant, of which the destroyed building is but one of 12 units, has been devoting part of its facilities to production of war materials, principally camouflage supplies.

Actually, police said, the total number of casualties might not be known for several days until the ruins, comprising 20-foot piles of shattered masonry in some spots, had been thorcughly searched.

Fire Follows

An intense fire which followed the explosion made rescue activities more difficult. Despite the fact that apparatus was summoned from four adjoining towns, the blaze was not brought under control for several hours.

Immediate investigation into the cause of the disaster was begun by local authorities as well as army and navy officials and agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Surviving employes, however, could add little to what was already known.

Eyewitnesses to the explosion told of heavy blocks of concrete flying through the air for incredible distances and the wreckage bore mute evidence to their testimony. Many automobiles of workers parked in the vicinity were buried under tons of shattered masonry.

One theory advanced by a fire department official was that the explosion was due to spontaneous combustion of linoleum and cork dust. Such a detonation, he said, would be more powerful than dynamite.

Roosevelt would not leave Quebec until the vital military and political talks have been ended.

Meanwhile, a hint of the all-important work being undertaken at the Roosevelt-Churchill conference was found in the words of Brendan Bracken, British minister of information, at a news conference.

Asked for an outline of the scope of the plans now being worked out at the Chateau Frontenac and the Citadel, Bracken replied that, "the plans are to bomb and burn and ruthlessly destroy in every way available the people who are responsible for creating this war."

And, as added evidence of the world-wide scope of the current talks, he told newsmen that "its all one war."

Bracken gave newsmen, and them all the Allied peoples, reassurances that Britain intended to remain whole-heartedly in the war until all the Axis nations are brought to "unconditional surrender."

"When we have ground down Hitler," he told his news conference, "the whole might of the British Empire is going to be given over to the task of dealing with the Japanese, who are a ruthless, savage, people."

creased as a result of Sweden's order stopping trans-shipment of military and arms traffic across her territory to Norway. The Germans then began sending soldiers and weapons via Denmark.

Many of the trains now routed through Denmark have been blown up with time bombs along the Aarhus-Aalborg railway.

Martial Law

Martial law was decreed in Esbjerb because of the destruction of German munitions stores there.

In fighting at Odense, it was said, at least 15 Germans were killed and an undisclosed number of Danes met death.

Near Abby Danes were said to have blown up five locomotives and several transport trains laden with German troops. Damage also was reported done to harbor installations at Aarum.

(The "internal crisis" in Denmark, said radio Motala of Sweden in a broadcast recorded by U. S. government monitors, "has become more tense during the last 24 hours." The broadcast said "disturbances" had occurred at Tyn and a state of emergency declared "in some towns.")

Poltava, both important Nazi bastions controlling important railroad lines.

Bitter fighting continued before Bryansk, pivotal German base in the north, after the Russian drive enveloped 20 additional populated places.

New advances also were scored by Soviet units driving towards the Bryansk-Smolensk railroad.

(The Berlin radio said the Russians opened a powerful pincer attack against the German-held stronghold of Staraya Russia southwest of Moscow, spearheaded by 200 tanks. The Germans also claimed to have repulsed Soviet forces in the "fifth battle of the Kuban" at the southern end of the long Russian front.

HOARE, FRANCO MEET
(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Today's meeting between Sir Samuel Hoare, British ambassador to Spain, and Spanish Dictator Gen. Francisco Franco is attracting much attention of the British press and public.

Observers pointed out the talks are taking place at an important juncture of the war and significance is attached to the fact that the British ambassador will return to London immediately after his talks with Gen. Franco.

upon the part of New Castle citizens. The fights were provided through the Jefferson A.C., the United States Coast Guard band was present, the GAC's of the senior high school presented a drill, the Standard Steel Spring Ladies' Chorus presented a short concert and a group of baton twirlers under Miss Christine Giancotti staged a baton drill.

All receipts are in, all bills are paid and the check for $3597.82 represents the net total of the venture. In presenting the check to Col. Gentzkow, Mr. Round presented a letter of explanation, showing the receipts and expenditures. A copy of the letter follows:

August 18, 1943.

Deshon General Hospital,
Butler, Pa.
Colonel C. J. Gentzkow, O.C.
Sir:

A short time ago it come to the attention of the citizens of New Castle, Lawrence county, that a need existed at Deshon hospital for funds to provide recreation facilities for the patients.

After consideration, New Castle determined to do something about this need.

Subsequently, a boxing exhibition was held at Taggart Stadium, New Castle, with the following results:

All expenses were underwritten and paid out of a fund created by certain donors and patrons, and most of the incidental expenditures were contributed.

There was received—

By the sale of tickets	$2,749.10
By contributions	34.91
By sales at the gate	663.90
By the patrons' list	938.75
Total Receipts	$4,386.66

Necessary and unavoidable expenses were as follows:

Jefferson A.C. per Tom Leach, for expenses in connection with boxers.	$ 305.00
Pa. State Box. Com.	142.56
Fed. tax on adm.	320.78
Committee ribbons and display cards	20.50
Total of all expenses	$ 788.84

Leaving net balance of $3,597.82 available to the hospital.

Ticket distribution was under the competent supervision of Bernard Hanlon, and all receipts were supervised by the treasurer, Fred Duff.

The details of the above computation are being held by the above named persons, open to the inspection of yourself, your representative, or any citizen.

It is our pleasure, and indeed privilege, on behalf of the citizens of New Castle, Lawrence county, to present you herewith a certified check in the amount of $3,597.82, and to assure you of our continued interest in all matters affecting the welfare of the Deshon hospital.

Sincerely,
L. B. ROUND, chairman,
Deshon Hospital Benefit
Committee of New Castle,
Lawrence County.

and Warhawks hit tracks near Melito and swept the beaches to the south.

The overall aerial operations cost the Allies 17 planes.

A naval communique announced that a force of British cruisers and destroyers bombarded Scalea, on the west coast of the Calabrian peninsula, some 25 miles southeast of Cape Palinuro where the railway runs close to the sea.

"Naval activity continues on both coasts of the Calabrian peninsula and on the eastern shore of the straits of Messina," the announcement said.

German forces in southern Italy were reported withdrawing still further northward and were said to have established a new defense line some 30 miles north of Reggio Di Calabria.

vestigate the entire manpower situation upon reconvening next month, there were strong indication that some definite policy would have to be formulated regarding selective service.

With Secretary of the Navy Knox's statement that 2,861,000 will be in the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard by January 1, observers pointed out that manpower figures submitted by the armed services and the WMC fail to tally, indicating continued uncertainty concerning future draft needs.

According to this calculation, Army and Navy personnel will total 11,061,000 by January 1, instead of the WMC estimate of 10.8 millions.

Germany has offered the Reich a peace short of the Anglo-American "unconditional surrender" formula.

This so-called "German national committee" has presented Germany the following two "peace" terms: (1) Overthrow the Nazis. (2) Withdraw to the original German frontiers of June, 1941, date of the Russian attack. Russia has promised that compliance with these terms will mean the removal of Soviet troops from German soil and the establishment of Germany as a single, sovereign nation.

FDR Favors Hull

President Roosevelt, it is stated, would like to send Secretary of State Cordell Hull to meet Stalin. The mission is regarded as so vital to U. S.-Soviet relations that the highest possible ranking officer of the American government should undertake it. Hull's continued presence in Washington, however, is of such importance that the mission might be ruled out. There is the added difficulty, too, that is presented by the hazards and fatigue of a trip to Moscow. The trip might cause an undue strain on Mr. Hull's health. The secretary of state is 72.

As an alternative, it is thought that Under-secretary of State Sumner Welles might be chosen as the President's envoy.

It seems highly likely, too, that Prime Minister Churchill may also send Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to Moscow.

Eden and Welles, it is considered likely, might make the trip together.

As an alternative, Prime Minister Churchill, who has flown to Moscow and conferred with Stalin on earlier critical occasions, might undertake the mission on behalf of both the United States and Britain.

FINANCIAL HAMLET
(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—It sure takes the anger of Baltazar Havalda a long time to reach the boiling point.

He started a three-month jail sentence today for smashing nine big windows at the Caspar American State Bank with a two-foot iron bar, causing $1,300 damage.

The reason, he told Judge John A. Sbarbaro in criminal court, was that he lost $10,000 savings in the bank. (The bank said it was only $4,000, and not the bank's fault).

But, anyway, that was 10 years ago.

'REAL' SECOND FRONT WOULD SHORTEN WAR, SAYS MOSCOW REVIEW

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 20.—If a "real" second front were established in the near future, the war in Europe could be won this year, a Moscow fortnightly review declared today, Reuter's News Agency reported in a dispatch from the Soviet metropolis.

The publication, identified by Reuter's as "War and the Working Classes", in which unofficial but informed Russian sources air their views on international affairs, commented on length on the current Allied staff discussions now under way at Quebec.

It called for "preparation for a firm peace, based upon friendly collaboration among the Allies" and declared that the Quebec session was aimed at shortening "the duration of the war".

UNION LABEL

TREASURY ON NOTICE

A NEW NOTE is creeping into the tax utterances of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau. The old "take it and like it" attitude toward proposed taxation, which has been characteristic of the attitude of Mr. Morgenthau and General Counsel Randolph E. Paul, seems to have been abandoned, at least for the present.

The treasury still insists that it needs $12,000,000,000 more in taxes, but it is far from certain how it is going to get that amount, if at all. Recent experiences have been such as to abate the chronic treasury nagging at particular groups. Congress flouted the treasury's proposal for a $6,500,000,000 "spending tax"—the most asinine tax proposal ever made by the United States Treasury—and may be forced to do so again. It kicked out the window the proposal first put forward by the communist party to limit net salaries to $25,000 a year.

The Army and Navy subsequently have had something emphatic to say to the treasury. They are agreed, as Mr. Morgenthau admits, that new taxes should not be permitted to take the incentive away from manufacturers and workers to produce munitions of war at a maximum rate of production and get therefrom a corresponding profit. Army and Navy warn, too, against taxing corporations to the extent that they will lose interest in war orders.

This attitude by high Army and Navy officials is entirely understandable. They want no tax program to interfere with the vigorous prosecution of the war. But their vision extends beyond war's cessation to the demobilization of 10,000,000 men, for whom places must be found in the civilian economy. Grants of pay and unemployment insurance are at best only a stop-gap.

What the veterans will want is not a long period of government largess, but jobs or a chance to start in business on their own. They will hope to find industry not paralyzed when war orders are at an end, but in shape to make as speedily as possible the sharp transition from a war to a peace economy.

This is the thought that will be uppermost in the minds of Congressmen when new tax proposals are definitely presented by the treasury.

WHY GET FUSSY?

Some Washington observers predict that the President is going to ask for passage of the Austin-Wadsworth labor draft bill. Some friendly advisers of the White House think though the law would be unconstitutional because it involves "compulsory servitude for employes seeking private profits."

Why get fussy at this late date? Congress and the President have forced citizens to join unions and pay dues before they can work on government contracts paid for by their own taxes, and have compelled employers to collect union dues and fire workers who do not come across.

If the Austin-Wadsworth bill entails servitude, what is to be said of the Wagner Act? But maybe what's sauce for the goose isn't sauce for the gander, especially when the gander happens to be on the right side of the political fence.

IN HOUSE OF ITS FRIENDS

Unsparingly critical of the national food program are the findings presented as a confidential report by a subcommittee of the food advisory committee set up by Secretary Wickard when he was food administrator. No strictures from the outside have been more severe than those made by the subcommittee members, each representing some federal agency concerned with the food problem.

Fundamental changes in this country's and Britain's food policies are declared imperative, with a world-wide production plan cited as the basic need. No punches are held in condemning the failure "to encourage needed food production in easily accessible foreign areas already possessing adequate land, labor and equipment." The idea that the United States can become the food basket of the United Nations is declared absurd. It is further insisted that American civilian needs "should not be considered as left overs to be satisfied after all other claims are met."

From its implication this sounds almost like lese majeste within the administration. But the day before the report's publication the War Food Administration let it be known that it had refused to set aside the food reserves asked by the Office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation Operations, because to comply would mean cutting either civilian consumption or allocations to Britain and Russia. When the WFA took that stand it undoubtedly knew about the report, whether or not it was influenced by it.

The charges about "bungling and mishandling" farm production in this country are not less specifically and forcefully stated, particularly as to the operation of the so-called parity system. In wartime the parity system is a handicap to the raising of products that are most needed and at any time it attempts to hold the farmer to a 1910 living standard.

Rome will not be an open city until it has been opened at both ends and in the middle like Hamburg was.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Treasury Henry L. Morgenthau, Jr.: "If there is any way of simplifying the collection of the withholding tax for employers we are for it."

MONROE, La.—Marvin Jones, war food administrator: "In my judgment, the best method of securing production of essential war crops is to have a support of definite price that would last throughout the production and harvesting season."

LONDON—Eric A. Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce: "No American can intelligently and sincerely promise you any cooperation in any intelligently and sincerely promise you any cooperation in any system of world-wide cartels. The average American should call it economic imperialism and he is against it."

WASHINGTON—Vice President Henry A. Wallace: "My quarrel is with those corporations which try to make Washington a way station for Wall Street . . . there are certain very large corporations who are especially interested in international affairs and whose object is to control the government. I object to them."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SCHOOL DAY ART WORK

In the modern primary school the children spend considerable time at coloring, free drawing and handwork. Having observed children of the first grade in hundreds of classrooms throughout the United States, I have been amazed at finding in practically every classroom a number of children who are not attracted to such activities because they don't do well at them. I used to suppose that every child liked to color, draw and make things with his hands.

Confirming the foregoing observations are numerous letters I receive from mothers who describe the child who is lagging at school in these activities. Here is a sample.

"My little six-year-old son is in the first grade. His teacher thinks he should finish his coloring at school. She sometimes has him bring his work home to finish it. He dislikes coloring and drawing very much. I buy him coloring books to practice at home but he will work at it only a short time and then put it aside. He complains of it making him too tired."

These young activity-laggards do not all come from underprivileged homes nor from homes where parents have not encouraged the child in coloring drawing and handwork. It seems true, however, that this child has not been effectively stimulated in these directions at home while in school or during his pre-school years. It is not enough to put paper, crayons and color books into the child's hands. We need to set the stage so he will gain satisfaction at doing these things. He needs a little help here, a little there. He needs appreciation by parents and older children of his crudest efforts.

When the child of three, four or five puts blocks, lines, marks or words together according to his own fancy, he is more ready to go on creating if some older person present has enough imagination and sympathy to enjoy his achievement. If, on the other hand his crude efforts are ignored or, worse still belittled, his zeal to go on may wane.

If at school he sees he cannot draw or color nearly so well as the other children; if his efforts are not appreciated; if, alas, his work is condemned or ridiculed he may lose interest and not try.

Then, too, the child may be color-blind or have very poor hand-eye cooordination. A discerning parent or teacher should easily discover such handicaps and take them into account.

Parents of children from three to five should keep in mind that as they encourage the tot at scribbling, coloring, drawing, doing and making things with his hands, they are doing what will help prepare him to succeeed at school later.

The World and the Mud Puddles

NO FREE LABOR

Speaking of monopolies and combinations in restraint of trade, both of which have heretofore been considered to be two of the very reprehensible creatures of the "princes of privilege," the congress of the United States has legislated against each of them and the office of the attorney general of the United States is very busy just now in attempting to convict the Associated Press, accusing that great news-gathering organization of operating a monopoly and a combination in restraint of trade.

Be that as it may—and the case will be tried some time in the dim future—the racketeering officials of organized labor are probably the best examples today of monopolistic activities, to say nothing about any restraint of trade. Every employer of labor is very well aware of this fact. The workmen themselves are very well aware of it and the every-day citizen gets hit squarely in the eye with it.

For instance, in a western city there is a local of the Paper Hangers' Union. I am told there are only five members of this local. No other paper hangers may work in the building of a house but one of these five, unless the builder wishes to have his job declared "unfair" and what those five do to the building trade is nobody's business but their own.

I know of one instance where a householder desired to have a room re-papered,—walls and ceiling. The room was about fourteen feet square and ten feet high, with four doors and a window opening into it. The paper hanger did a very good job, I am told, in about eight hours, for which he charged the sum of $26, the householder buying and paying for the paper in addition. The $26 paid for the hanging of the paper alone.

Such a price is only possible under a system of monopoly. There were in that city many men who could hang paper very well but they were not members of the union. The non-members would probably have been very glad to have hung the paper in the room for a matter of $8 or $10 and considered themselves very well paid. I remember the late Mr. Amze White, of New Castle, who could do carpenter work, could paint and hang wall paper, and who kept himself reasonably busy at such work, and I also remember that his charges for a day's work were in the neighborhood of three dollars. Such conditions are only obtainable under a system of free labor which we today have not and if there is any freedom other than the four freedoms mentioned in the Atlantic Charter, one of them certainly is Freedom of Labor.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:51. Sun rises tomorrow 6:16.

No doubt some of the congressmen have changed their minds about things since they have been on vacation at home and we will hear some things when they meet on Sept. 15.

These days it takes very little to cause a big row.

PERT AND PERTINENT

"Scientists who have spent two years in Africa studying the life and language of the monkey, tell us that most of the monkey's jabbering and chatter is about sex."

Which proves that monkeys are a close relation to man.

"Crime isn't news . . ." quoted from a recent address by a college president.

Neither is the opinion of college presidents but people still bother to read about crime and seldom read the words of a college professor.

"More than a million war prisoners will be brought to concentration camps in the U. S. A. and Canada . . ."

What about the immigration law and the clause 'moral turpitude'?

"The Comic Strip idea originated in the present generation . . ."

Nonsense, how about the Punch and Judy strip which dates back to the ancient Egyptians?

Our greatest foreign policy now is to win the war.

Since women's dresses have gotten shorter a man can at least find his shoes in the closet—if nothing else.

We don't hear many people saying they are going on a diet.

HIP POCKETS?

Since the 'paint on' stocking fad has become increasingly popular, the younger ladies who used to carry their money in their stockings now carry it in a special pocket built into the hem of their skirts.

Some of the sidewalks that need fixing the most are not being touched.

A gifted public speaker could be one who knows when to stop.

For the right man stumbling blocks become stepping stones.

Reflections of a Swing Shifter: "The population of these United States has increased more than eleven million under the administration of the New Deal."

Well, doggone it, you have to hand it to Roosevelt and the Washington bureaucrats . . . upping the population by that many million took a lot of time and patience. But they did it.

Custom makes anything endurable, and we soon adjust ourselves to the chronic suffering of somebody else.

The only thing you can borrow and not have to pay back is trouble.

There really isn't any meat shortage—there's just a surplus of meat eaters.

Learn to accept criticism without resentment. The only way we can improve in any occupation or undertaking is to learn from others.

PURPOSE

John Ruskin once wrote: "We are not sent into this world to do anything into which we cannot put our whole hearts. We have certain things to do for our bread, and that is to be done strenuously; other work to do for our delight, and that is to be done heartily; neither is it to be done by halves or shifts but with a will; and what is not worth this effort is not to be done at all."

War is hell in so many ways that much could happen where least expected.

No dictator has turned out so good that we should want one in the United States.

Of course, it is good to have the things that money can buy, but it is well for each one of us—you as well as I—to make sure we are not losing the very things that money will not buy.

We like to hear people predict things that we like to hear even if there is doubts about them.

Roasting ears go down pretty good even without a whole lot of butter.

It takes some planning to take a trip now, unless you walk.

When you are no longer criticized, you are through and the world will speedily forget you.

A candidate for public office really doesn't know where he is at until the votes are counted.

A lot of women will not want to go back to housework when the war is over. This is something to give some thought to.

Good Taste

GUEST WHO NEGLECTS HOSTESS

"An out-of-town cousin is now with me for a two weeks' visit. She makes almost daily dates with her friends without consulting me or inviting me along. Don't you think this is a peculiar way for a house guest to treat her hostess?" — Offended.

Answer: She is manifesting not only bad taste but bad breeding. And any of her friends or relatives who invite her away from your home even for an hour, are being inexcusably rude to you if they do not include you in their invitation. If you cannot go with her, it is then your guest's duty to decline the invitation unless you very emphatically insist that she go without you. This is "Hoyle" whether she is visiting only one person in a small apartment or is one of many guests in a mansion. Of course, etiquette does not require that your guest remain perpetually at your side during her waking hours in your home. She should give you an occasional opportunity to relax by going to her room to read or lie down.

Not only should she hesitate to accept invitations in which you are not included, but she should invite you out to lunch or dinner and a matinee before her visit is up. Every guest owes this hospitality to her hostess, especially a guest staying for such a long time.

Question: When addressing an envelope to a man, is it always permissible to use the form—John Smith, Esquire, or are there only certain circumstances when this title might be correctly used?—Marge.

Answer: This title, usually abbreviated "Esq." is now used broadly to include all men. Although, in its strictest sense, it mean "John Smith—gentleman," it is frequently used in addressing men who may not be gentlemen. This title, however, should never be used in addressing formal invitations. It is correct for all other personal letters.

Tomorrow—Tips For Servant

Down in the Blue Ridge Mountains a Yankee traveler came across a mountaineer who was having more than usual difficulties in persuading his mule to proceed. Arguments, cursing and beating were of no avail.

"What's the matter with that mule?" inquired the northerner. "Is he stubborn?"

"Stubborn!" ejeculated the muleteer, wiping his forehead on his sleeve. "Say, mister, that darn critter is so stubborn that when his hind laigs are pushin' his front ones are walkin' backwards."

Well-timed silence is far more eloquent than speech.

Nazis Fear New Long Range Bombers
Range Of Aircraft More Than Doubled
Fall Fireworks Is Expected At Capitol

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Long time observers accustomed to putting "two and two together" in official Washington believe there is more to the panicky evacuation of Berlin than meets the eye.

Both the Nazis and the Nips live in daily fear that new American long range bombers may soon begin to scorch and scar and blacken Axis capitals with loads of bombs hitherto considered fabulous. So both are out on a fishing expedition—the Nazis clearing Berlin and Tokyo announcing that it is ready for heavy raids.

It is no secret that when America entered the war a 1,000 mile round trip with a heavy bomb load was something to be rated extraordinary. Since then an air corps general has announced that the "last of the little bombers have come off the assembly line" and Boeing Flying Fortresses made a 2,400 mile trip to ravage the oil fields of Ploesti.

Moreover, there have been several raids on Japanese-held Wake Island from the American base at Midway, 1,200 miles distant. Not long ago Allied bombers based in Australia paid a token call at Soerabaya on the island of Java—a 2,000 mile round trip.

More recently, an American bomber made the first "operations" flight in history between Canada and the British Isles. With a range of 3,500 miles, bombers can fly from the Aleutians across Tokyo and land in China for fresh loads of bombs and fuel to make the return trip.

So maybe—just maybe—the Axis has something??

There is a story going the rounds that some OPA appointments have thoroughly aroused such a doughty old Jacksonian Democrat as Sen. Kenneth T. McKellar of Tennessee.

THE LAWYER'S WIFE

To be a lawyer's wife is not
An altogether blissful lot,
Or so I'm told, for often she
To clients strange must friendly be.
She must for business reasons smile
On crooks and thugs and persons vile
And tell some square-jawed beetle brow,
"My husband isn't home just now!"

Some lawyers, if not one and all,
Must heed the dreaded midnight call
And hurry out to furnish bail
For clients newly locked in jail.
'Tis surely not a pleasant thing
At night to hear the doorbell ring
And know some client's in the pen
Who wants to be let out again.

Sometimes the lawyer's wife must wait
For years for fame and fortune great;
Must see his not so clever friends
Get bulky fees and dividends
While he still plods the rougher course
Of tort and trover and divorce.
And wear his coat and trousers thin
On cases there's no chance to win.

But when these days of care have passed.
There comes that happy hour at last
When he's made partner number four
And gets his name upon the door.
'Tis then the hard and tedious work
Is given to the junior clerk.
And he may lead an easier life,
And likewise may the lawyer's wife.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN
(International News Service Staff Writer)

Well a thousand soldiers have been assigned to can tomatoes in South Jersey and that's a new kind of basic training.

They will be known as canmandos.

The reason you've got to have soldiers to can tomatoes is that the tomato canners have been drafted into the army.

That makes sense only on the first bounce.

It should be noted that soldiers have not yet been steered into an AFL or CIO potato patch at fifty skins a month.

It is high time for John L. Lewis to organize the tomato vines.

And then the soldiers can go back to being soldiers and you will not hear of them being loaned as tomato pickers.

Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT
(Copyright, 1943)
By The Baltimore Sun

The AFL Declines

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.

IT IS interesting to note that the American Federation of Labor has rejected the invitation of the CIO to form a coalition "political action committee" and will follow its traditional policy of setting up an independent nonpartisan committee. This is a disappointment to the Administration fourth-term strategists. They had planned it the other way.

THE COALITION idea originated in the White House and it was considered very slick, indeed. The objective was to solidify both factions of organized labor behind the President's fourth-term candidacy so early and in such a way that something like real substance could be given the "draft" contention. One of the difficulties of the Roosevelt political managers this time is to make the President's candidacy appear inspired by genuine popular demand and not by himself.

THEY RECOGNIZE that it will be a very real weakness if the fact becomes too generally clear that the whole fourth-term movement is generated in the White House and that the man behind it is Mr. Roosevelt working through his bosom friend and confidant, Mr. Harry Hopkins; his Postmaster General, Mr. Frank Walker, whom he made chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and the various city machine bosses, including Hague, Kelly, Flynn and Kennedy, to whom he has been feeding Federal favors and whom he has otherwise coddled.

NOTWITHSTANDING the heavily promoted idea that Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hopkins are both too absorbed in great military and diplomatic problems and too intent upon winning the war to give any thought at all to politics, this happens to be the truth. One could have more respect for them if, while they are maneuvering to perpetuate their power, which, perhaps is natural enough, they did not assume a Pecksniffian piety and exude resentment in various ways toward anyone who ventures to suggest that they are not wholly noble and unselfish.

ACTUALLY, of course, a considerable number of people are aware of the White House political activity and fully informed as to the realities of the fourth-term drive. In fact, so many know these things now that some apprehension exists among the managerial group lest the public generally cease believing the "complete absorption in problems of the war" propaganda and see the situation as it really is. It was this feeling that inspired the idea of uniting the two labor factions in a single "political action" committee, the objective, of course,

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Once again ridicule has proven itself a greater power than direct attack.

John Bovingdon, principal economic analyst in the Board Economic Warfare, has been fired "for the good of the service."

The real reason, however, was the fact that once upon a time he was a ballet dancer, and, being in the entertainment business and thus needing publicity, he had his pictures taken in many poses that are perfectly all right for an actor but quite unsuitable for a governmental official.

All over the country these pictures were republished, showing "Economist" Bovingdon in shorts and sandals, long hair and somewhat out-of-kilter legs—and as a result he was simply laughted out of office.

There was also some talk about his communistic leanings, but it was the ridicule that did the trick.

It's kind of odd, of course, to have a dancer in a responsible government position, but was Mr. Bovingdon any funnier than some of the gentry that are getting things in Washington so gloriously mixed so that we don't know anymore whether butter is used on bread or to grease our automobiles, whether we drink gasoline or put it in our cars, whether postage stamps are used to buy shoes or to put on letters?

I wonder whether Eddie Cantor couldn't do a pretty good job as Secretary of the Interior—he's certainly much funnier—or whether Bob Hope wouldn't be better company for President Roosevelt than Harry Hopkins.

And when it comes to Congress, I'd just as soon have Fannie Brice to entertain me as Clare Boothe Luce, and the fellow who draws Popeye is, in my opinion much better than some of the chaps that draw up the bill.

Don't you enjoy Lou Costello much more on the radio than Vice President Wallace? And to me, Jack Benny and Fred Allen are much more hilarious than Senator Tydings of Congressman Bloom.

There's at least one thing about a comedian: A joke must have a point. And when a playwright writes a play, there must be a plot.

And that is certainly more than you can say about Washington.

Don't let us fire the entertainers let us have more of them. At least we'll get some fun out of being governed!

Thirteenth Army Air Force In Solomons Area Lives Up To Number

By JOHN R. HENRY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ADVANCE ARMY BASE, IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, Aug. 6—(Delayed) — The number "13" means more than a name and a digit today for the Thirteenth U. S. Army Air Force.

Operating in the Solomons area, the Thirteenth AAF has made "13" mean bad medicine for the Japs, to wit:

There are 13 aces in the fighter command of the Thirteenth. Together they have shot down 88 enemy planes—just 13 more than the five planes each required for the mythical title of ace.

Among the members is Second Lieut. Murry J. Shubin of Dormont, Pittsburgh.

One of the original aces of the Thirteenth was First Lieut. William F. Fielder, Jr., of Akron, O., who was killed in an operational accident last June 30.

Uncanny Record

The Thirteenth AAF (13 letters, incidentally) has an almost uncanny background of "13's." It was created through an organizational order issued by Lieut. Gen. Millard Harmon, chief of U. S. armed forces in the South Pacific. The order was "special order No. 13", and it was issued January 13, 1943 at 1300 (1 p. m.). The war, for the United States, was then 13 months old.

The planes of Maj. Gen. Nathan Twining, commander of the Thirteenth, crashed into the sea on the 13th day after his force was formed, but all 15 men in the plane were rescued.

Latest of the series of "13's" for the Thirteenth came Friday, Aug. 13 when Gen. Harmon awarded the Legion of Merit and the Distinguished Flying Cross to Brig. Glen C. Jamison, commander of the Thirteenth's bomber craft.

In its operations in the Solomons area, the Thirteenth Air Force has chalked up a splendid record and proved that the number "13" can be lucky or unlucky, depending upon your point of view—for us, lucky, for the Japs, unlucky.

WMC CLARIFIES WAR STATUS OF BUN, PUN

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20—The difference between bakers and barkers in the eyes of the War Manpower Commission was clarified today by Frank L. McNamee, regional WMC director.

McNamee declared that the makers of buns are essential; it's the makes of puns that the WMC has classed as non-deferrable.

OREGON FISHERMAN GETS 10-TON SHARK

(International News Service)

ASTORIA, Ore., Aug. 20—Stewart Davis, Astoria fisherman, told the story today of the big one that didn't get away—A 31-foot shark he estimated to weigh 20,000 pounds.

The ten-ton tiger of the sea was too big for Davis' boat after he untagled it from his torn nets, and part of it dragged in the water as he towed it triumphantly to port.

The shark's liver alone weighed a ton and at present prices will realize a pretty profit for the day's work.

But what makes a great man if he never does anything a common little guy couldn't have done as well?

RECRUITS HIMSELF AS ARMY AIR CADET

(International News Service)

STUTTGART, Ark., Aug. 20.—Cadets at the Stuttgart army air field today handed the Accolade as a super-salesman on the air to Cadet John N. Dunham of Sioux Falls, S. D. He was so good he sold himself.

Some time ago Dunham took a radio announcer's job for an air corps recruiting program over radio station WBBM in Chicago.

Under the impact of his own eloquence he gradually began to weaken and the first thing he knew, after about a month, he had enlisted in the air corps. Now he's in training at Stuttgart's twin-engined pilot school.

FARMS AND FARMERS OF LAWRENCE COUNTY

By Lewis C. Dayton, County Agent

FERTILIZER SUGGESTIONS FOR FALL USE

According to Washington reports, Lawrence county farmers will have a number of fertilizer mixes which hey may use on fall grains. These fertilizers will contain nitrogen—if its use is necessary.

The Department of Agriculture and the Extension Agronomists of the Pennsylvania State College make the following suggestions for fertilizers used on fall crops. The first formula listed is preferred for use in most cases. Similar ratio fertilizers in higher analysis may be used in lesser qutntity if they are available.

For wheat winter barley, or rye on soils only moderately fertile, use 250 to 300 pounds of 3-12-6, 2-12-6, 4-12-4, or 4-12-8. On the more fertile soils, use 250 to 300 pounds of 0-14-7 or 0-12-12. Where manure is applied, 200 pounds of 0-20-0 generally will be adequate. If the grain is to be used as a nurse crop for a seeding of alfalfa, clover, or pasture, the above amounts may be increased 100 pounds, especially with seedings to be left for several years.

For August seedings of alfalfa, pasture mixtures, or poultry ranges, 300 to 400 of 3-12-6, 4-12-8, or 4-12-4 on the less fertile situations and similar amounts of 0-14-7, 0-12-12, or 3-12-6 on fertile soils. With manure, 300 to 400 pounds of 0-20-0 may be adequate.

For top-dressing alfalfa or Ladino clover, 300 to 400 pounds of 0-12-12 or 0-14-7 are suggested, and where manure is applied 300 to 400 pounds of 0-20-0. For top-dressing permanent pastures to improve the thickness and quality of the sod, 400 to 500 pounds of 0-14-7, 0-12-12, or 0-20-0 are advised. Where manure is applied, use similar amounts of of 0-20-0. Eighteen per cent superphosphate may be used in all cases instead of 20 per cent.

If lime has not been used recently on the pasture, it generally should be applied before one can expect good response from fertilizer. Poor pasture sods also will need manure for satisfactory improvement.

On account of transportation difficulties and lack of labor in the fertilizer plants, early ordering and acceptance of early delivery will be especially advisable. It is better to have the fertilizer in the barn a few weeks ahead than to have to delay sowing grain until it arrives.

Last fall on account of the shortage of nitrogen, its use on fall-sown grain was ruled out. Many farmers, on fertile soils, mty have learned from this experience that nitrogen was not essential. The poor yields of wheat harvested in some sections this summer were due to weather conditions, not to lack of nitrogen.

This fall with apparently plenty of nitrogen available, it should be used on the poorer, unmanured soils. The scarce element now is potash, so that no more of it should be applied than one is sure his soil needs.

DAIRY COWS NEED WATER TO KEEP UP PRODUCTION

Every Lawrence County dairyman is interested in getting as much milk as possible from the feed available. Water greatly influences the amount of milk obtained from each 100 pounds of feed. Since milk is 87 per cent water, cows need water many times each day.

Water should be provided where the cows can help themselves whenever they want it. The more milk a cow is producing, the more water she needs. If she cannot get it, then a cow will give milk only in the proportion of the amount of water she drinks. As a result, she will produce so much milk from the feed consumed as she would if plenty of water were available.

TREAT SHEEP NOW FOR INTERNAL PARASITES

To be safe rather than sorry, Lawrence County sheepmen should treat their flocks for internal parasites as soon as possible. Abundant rainfall and extremely hot weather cause an increase of the parasites.

Treatment at once is important because parasites cause the sheepman his greatest loss. He loses because some of his sheep die and because parasites lower the value of his lamb and wool crop.

Phenothiazine recently came on the market as a treatment for internal parasites. Dr. W. T. S. Thorp, animal pathologist of the Pennsylvania State College, has found it the best treatment yet devised for this purpose. It can be used as a drench in pellet or capsule form, in the feed or in the salt. Doctor Thorp prefers the use of phenothiazine as a drench or as a salt lick.

Many farmers are using the salt lick by mixing 1 part of the phenothiazine with 9 parts of salt, particularly during the summer months. It is very important that this mixture be kept in front of the sheep all the time; the box should never be empty.

Even when the salt lick is used, it is advisable to drench the lambs at this time. This is important because young lambs often do not take enough of the mixture to control parasites. The directions of the manufacturer should be followed when pheenothiazine is used as a drench.

Several Lawrence county sheepmen have been using Phenothiazine during the past year. S. R. Neely of Plain Grove Township has used the phenothiazine and salt mixture since last fall with excellent results. Guy Fullerton of North Beaver Township has used the Phenothiazine satisfactory, drenching in the fall and spring and using the combination drench the balance of the period. Others are using the Phenothiazine and find it very satisfactory.

With weather conditions as they have been it is highly important that each sheep-man see that his flock is treated for parasites.

PRESENT CARE AFFECTS NEXT YEAR'S BERRIES

Proper care of the runner plants and fertilizing are the most urgent jobs facing the strawberry grower at this season.

Runner plants should be encouraged to take root as promptly as possible and should be spaced about 6 to 9 inches apart. This will hasten development of a full row of plants about 3 feet wide.

Proper spacing not only gives much heavier total yield, but also results in larger average berry size, less decay, and better keeping quality. Three or four plants on each square foot of soil may be considered ideal.

After the row has been filled with plants at such spacing, additional plants formed later in the season should be destroyed before taking root as far as it is possible to do this.

Fertilizing is another seasonable practice now. Nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia applied about mid-August will result in a heavier set of flower buds and a higher percentage of these buds will develop into fruits next spring. An application of about 250 pounds to the acre for patches not previously fertilized is desirable, while 125 to 150 pounds should be enough for plantings which received an early sidedressing of nitrogen.

HOME-CANNED CHICKEN CAN AID MEAT SUPPLY

Home-canned chicken will help to provide easy-to-prepare meat dishes for meals next winter, says Miss Josephine Simpon, home economics extension representative Lawrence County.

For canning, select plump somewhat fat birds. Mature birds have a better flavor when canned than do young birds though the latter may be canned.

Dress the chicken as for table use, cutting the fowl into the usual sized pieces for serving. Wash thoroughly. Young birds weighing less than 3½ pounds can be packed raw, but older birds have a better flavor and texture if precooked. The chicken may be precooked in the oven at 350 degrees Fahrenheit until the red or pink color disappears, or by putting in boiling water and simmering 8 to 10 minutes, or by browning lightly in a frying pan.

Pack the pieces of chicken into the jar close together but not too tightly so that heat can easily penetrate to the center of the jar. Leave 3-4 inch head space.

To each quart jar, add a teaspoon of salt and fill the jar within a ½ inch from the top with water in which the chicken was cooked or with freshly boiled water. With a clean cloth wipe off the top of the jar, for a bit of fat here may prevent the formation of a good seal. Adjust the cover and seal according to the type used.

In the pressure cooker at 15 pounds pressure, process pint jars of chicken with bone for 65 minutes, and quart jars for 75 minutes. If you are using the boiling water bath, process pint jars 3 hours and quart jars 3 ½hours. Chicken that is processed in the boiling water bath must be heated to the boiling point for 10 minutes before tasting.

Further information on canning chicken is given in Leaflet 99. You may get a copy of this from Miss Simpson in the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

SOW SEED NOW TO GROW PASTURES FOR POULTRY

A good grass and legume range for the poultry will save on grain feed, supply valuable nutrients, keep the fowls out of the mud, and reduce disease hazards.

Such a range supplies green, tender, palatable, and nutritious forage throughout the ranging period. This feed is an excellent source of vitamin A and riboflavin. In addition, it supplies protein, calcium, phosphorus, and other important but less familiar minerals. An analysis of 25 per cent protein on a dry matter basis has been found in samples from good poultry pastures in Pennsylvania.

Poultry extension specialists of the Pennsylvania State College say that an acre of good range will carry 500 to 600 pullets up to 22 weeks of age. When pullets are allowed to lay on range for some time before housing probably not more than 350 should be pastured on an acre. From 100 to 200 turkey poults can be carried on a like area until pasturage conditions indicate a larger area to be more desirable.

Ladino, a giant form of the little white clover, is the most productive and palatable crop for poultry range. It does best on fairly fertile soils which are not particularly dry. Lime will be needed if the soil is sour. Some grasses also are desirable. The following mixture is suggested by extension agronomists of the College as suitable for average conditions, although it may be varied to suit special circumstances: For one acre, 6 pounds Kentucky bluegrass, 6 pounds perennial ryegrass, 2 pounds redtop, 2 pounds Ladino clover, 1 pound white clover. On dry slopes, 4 pounds of Canada bluegrass may well be added. For turkey range substitute 6 pounds each of alfalfa and orchard grass for the blue grass and white clover to give greater productivity and wearing qualities.

Poultry ranges needed for use next spring may be sown in August. Early in the month is advisable for the more northern counties. In the southern part of the state seeding on fertile soil may be made up to September 1. Disking is preferable to plowing in preparing the soil, since a firm seedbed well stored with moisture is essential. When the seed is sown it may be covered with a cultipacker or very light harrowing. A liberal application of fertilizer such as 300 to 400 pounds of 3-12-6 or 4-12-4 before seeding will help to give it a good start.

Seedings also may be made with winter grain, sowing the grasses except the orchard grass in the fall and the clovers in the spring. The entire seeding may be made with oats in the spring.

Detailed information on range seeding and renovation may be obtained in the College Extension Leaflet No. 79, "Poultry Pastures"—available from the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

TURN COLLAR TO GIVE SHIRT LONGER WEAR

Before discarding shirts that belong to men in your family, look them over carefully to see what careful mending will do to put them back in the wearable class, suggests Miss Josephine Simpson, home economics extension representative Lawrence County.

Good shirts bought a few years ago are more generously cut and are made of better material than those of an equal price today. Collars and cuffs usually show the first signs of year but they can be turned easily which will lengthen the service of the shirt.

Before ripping the collar from the band, find the exact center by folding in half, having edges and points exactly even. Mark the center of each with a pin, then run a basting thread down the center of the collar on the wrong side and another down the center of the neckband on the inside. Colored threat will show up better than white thread. Also mark on the neckband the point where each end of the collar comes.

Rip the collar from the band, being careful not to cut nor stretch the material. Remove all loose thread ends. It will be easier to replace the collar if both collar and neckband, with seams still turned in, are pressed. Reverse the collar, insert it in the neckband, matching the center marks and the ends of the collar to the bastings at each end of the neckband. Pin in several places before basting, easing in any extra length caused by stretching. Baste along the old stitching line so that one stitching will catch both edges on the right and wrong sides. If the band was pressed before basting, the edges will be even. Stitch and press again.

If the right side of the collar is worn through, darn the worn edges flat to the lining of the collar before putting it back on the neckband. If the neckband is badly worn, lay it and the turned collar out flat, then put a piece of white bias tape flat over the worn part and stitch both edges.

Only cuffs which turn back can be reversed, says Miss Simpson. Rip, press, turn, and stitch the same as for the collar.

POST-WAR GLOOM

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. — A gloomy picture of 12,000,000 unemployed six months after the war ends was presented today by the bureau of labor statistics.

Asserting that a minimum of 7,000,000 would be unemployed when hostilities cease, the bureau said the post-war work problem must be met immediately if "another and even more terrible war" is to be prevented.

(International News Service)

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Training of aviation cadets at the U. S. Military Academy's Stewart field still was being impeded today as strike of 800 A. F. of L. Building Trades Council members continued.

The strike, it is claimed, was called to enforce a closed shop on one of the civilian contractors doing construction work on the field.

CRASH VICTIMS UNKNOWN

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The Army Air Forces sought today to identify the bodies of four men recovered from the wreckage of an army cargo plane which crashed at Hampstead, N. H., late yesterday.

A fifth man was believed to have been aboard the plane, but thus far no trace of his body has been found. Wreckage of the huge craft was strewn over a wide area.

RAILROAD MILEPOST

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA — The fiftieth anniversary of the installation of the first electrically operated semaphore signal in the world, an invention that revolutionized railroading, has just been celebrated. The pioneer equipment first used on the Jersey Central line of the Reading Company just outside Phillipsburg, N. J., was the invention of J. W. Lattig, 89, now living in retirement at Bethlehem, Pa.

More Steel Now For Civilian Use

Boost For "Home Front" Seen In WPB Increased Allocations

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—WPB's announced determination to maintain a sound and vigorous "home front" today was reflected in increased allocations of steel for the manufacture of essential civilian goods during the fourth quarter of 1943.

Although the 125,000-ton allotment for October, November and December represents less than one per cent of the nation's total steel output, it is an increase of about 25,000 tons—in the face of a very tight materials situation—over the current quarter's allocation.

Production officials regard the boost, however small, as significant evidence of the growing attention being given the "home front."

Stress Domestic Needs

Within the past month, War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes, WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson, and Arthur D. Whiteside, chairman of WPS's Office of Civilian Requirements, have emphasized the policy that essential domestic needs must and will be filled.

Moreover, it was disclosed that Whiteside is preparing an overriding directive for issuance to manufacturers receiving allotments of scarce materials for civilians. The directive will provide that products made under civilian allotments must be sold in civilian channels.

The order will prevent the military services or lend-lease from purchasing finished civilian products. WPB officials believe that many items destined for civilians have been diverted in this manner.

More Household Goods

The 125,000-ton fourth quarter allocation of steel includes 17,000 tons for production of warm air furnaces; 20,000 tons for kitchen and household equipment; 12,500 tons for bed springs; 9,000 tons for cooking stoves; 20,000 tons for hot water heaters; 427 tons for pins; 8,400 tons for hooks and eyes, and 10,000 tons for heating stoves.

Experts estimated that one ton of steel would permit the manufacture of approximately 1,000,000 pins, an item increasingly scarce. The 427-ton allotment for this purpose covers hairpins and bobby pins, safety pins, straight pins and needles.

Perhaps Refrigerators

Within the near future, the WPB may also grant steel for very limited production of such necessary civilian items as electric refrigerators, irons and washing machines. Production of these commodities has been stopped for some time and they now are practically non-existent.

Another field which is likely to receive increased consideration soon is that of automobile repair parts.

Such items as electric light bulbs and radio tubes also are very "short" because of the military requirements for tungsten.

The 125,000-ton steel allocation for consumer durable goods during the fourth quarter does not include steel for farm machinery, railroads and other essential civilian uses. These categories previously have been boosted, however, in line with the policy of keeping the "home front" in sound condition.

Colma, Cal., near San Francisco, is famed for its hundreds of acres of violet farms.

SEVENTH WARD

CUTTING DOWN WEEDS

Thursday, city employees were doing a good job of cutting down the weeds along the sidewalk on the upper part of North Cedar street. With the open season for hay fever now prevailing, it would be well if steps were taken to rid empty lots and other spots of the weeds that infest these locations.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Rudolph Roman, of 936 North Cedar street, has been admitted to the New Castle hospital.

Lois Kresner, of 915 North Liberty street, is confined to the New Castle hospital for treatment.

Davy Wukovich, of R. D. 7, Mahoningtown, has been admitted to the New Castle hospital for a tonsil operation.

W. C. Powers, of Mt. Jackson road, is spending a week's vacation visiting with relatives in Boyne City, Michigan.

Mrs. Mabel Emerick, of 406 Sixth street, has been admitted to the Jameson Memorial hospital for treatment.

Mrs. L. A. Goodhart, of West Madison avenue, has returned from a visit with Mrs. R. W. Barris of Mt. Jackson road.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Grau, of Mt. Lebanon, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Thompson, of 607 West Clayton street.

Misses Adeline and Helen Doman of Detroit, Mich., are visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Doman, of Mt. Jackson road.

Ronald Brommer, of 113 North Liberty street, has recovered sufficiently to return to his home from the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Miss Theresa Darling, of Pittsburgh, has returned, after spending a short vacation as the house guest of Mrs. W. C. Powers, of Mt. Jackson road.

Albert Gaetano, of Elizabeth, N. J., is spending a week's vacation visiting with his cousin, Albert Lambiaso, and family, of South Cedar street.

Private Albert Orlando, stationed in Georgia, is here on 15 days furlough, visiting with his mother, Mrs. Pauline Orlando, of 207 West Wabash avenue.

Private Edward L. Meyer, of Camp Swift, Tex., has returned after spending a five days furlough with his wife and son, 811 West Clayton street, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Meyer, Sr., of Pearson street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Crea and daughter Peggy, of Sharpsville, have returned after a visit with Mrs. Crea's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Barris, of Mt. Jackson road.

Mr. and Mrs. Merill Groce, daughter Maxine, son, Billy, of 701 West Clayton street; Angeline DeVidio, Jane Hake and Benny DeProspero, have returned from Youngstown, where they attended the Isaly picnic Wednesday. They also visited in Warren, O.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—Employment and payrolls in Pennsylvania factories today are at the highest levels on record in the past two decades.

On the basis of reports to the federal reserve bank of Philadelphia from 2,905 establishments, employment in July continued at the June peak of nearly 1,500,000, while wage payments declined slightly to an estimated $49,500,000 a week, due to seasonal influences.

Compared with a year ago, the number of employed increased four per cent, payrolls 20 per cent and total working time nine per cent.

The weekly income of wage earners at reporting plants in Pennsylvania averaged $44.07 in July, compared with the record high of $44.61 reached in June. Average hourly earnings advanced slightly further last month to $1.01, continuing an upward trend that has been uninterrupted for almost two years. The average number of hours worked per man per week declined from June to July, reflecting vacation schedules and reduced operations to take inventory and make repairs.

BERLIN RAIDED BY BRITISH BOMBERS

Correspondent Sees Bombing Of Wewak

(Editor's Note: A vivid eye-witness description of today's smashing new aerial assault against Japanese airbases in the Wewak area of New Guinea, in which the remnants of a 225-plane enemy armada which had escaped destruction yesterday were pounded to bits is given in this dispatch from International News Service Correspondent Lee Van Atta. All but 10 of the remaining Japanese planes were destroyed in this newest sweep, which saw 28 of 30 interceptors shot down. Van Atta describes the assault as seen from an observation post in a Mitchell bomber which plunged through dense rain squalls to blast its target area.)

By LEE VAN ATTA
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Aug. 19—Wading through heavy storms and through the heaviest anti-aircraft barrage ever faced by Mitchell medium bombers in this theater, American fliers today unleashed a new devastating blow against Wewak airdromes, supply areas, installations and harbor shipping.

With twin-tailed Lightning fighters hovering over us like protecting eagles, we slewed through the mid-morning thunderheads at 13,000 feet, slipped over the Owen Stanley mountains and then dived down to deliver powerful blows against the Borum airdrome.

The Lightnings and the bombers caught the runways and revetments, hitting them hard with both machine-gun fire and bombs, while at least two big fuel and ammunition dumps were demolished.

I flew in today's dramatic sequel to the original assault against Wewak with 25-year-old Capt. Ted Fitch of East Orange, N. J., and Lieut. Jeff Meyers of Larchmont, N. Y., and it was quite a party!

Some 45 minutes flying time from the target the bombers in our formation strung out in seemingly endless groups over billowing clouds, then plunged through a series of rain and thunder squalls which threatened for a while to cancel the whole attack.

On our wing was Lieut.-Col. Don Hall of Corpus Christi, Tex., and Maj. Dave Hanley of Wichita, Kan., who guided the attacking unit to the target. Disregarding the ominous weather, Hall went into the steepest possible dive, pulling out at less than 500 feet at a point about 10 miles from Wewak. A great pall of thick black smoke hung over the target area from the earliest assault.

Zeros Mix In

Above us, barely discernible in the clouds, I could make out the Lightnings hot-footing it after some Zeros while still farther up Fortresses and Liberators were completing their blistering bomb runs against supply installations and harbor shipping.

Passing in and out of the clouds and slipping at low altitudes over weather-pocked ravines, we circled out to sea. The rain was terrific and visibility practically zero. We were flying so close that a collision seemed inevitable. But suddenly somehow we were out of the rain and Fitch was thumbing his machine-gun button.

It didn't take long for things to break loose then. Even as our bright orange tracer fire sped toward the ack-ack positions directly in front of us, tracers from other ships in our formation whipped past our plane and I decided it was a toss-up whether they would hit us or the nips.

The sky seemed chock full of planes, anti-aircraft fire and tracer bullets. Over on our right I could see some Mitchells speeding in on three ships in the bay with all guns blazing. At least two of those ships had been pounded by the heavy bombers which preceded our attack and one was afire while another seemed to be sinking at the stern.

Hits Dump

Meanwhile, on the other side of the runway, Capt. Dick Ellis of Laurel, Del., following close on the heels of Hall, planted a string of 12 bombs directly into either an ammunition or bomb dump and pulled out in time to plaster another runway with strafing fire.

We made a 180-degree turn then, seeking cloud cover, but not before Fitch yelled, "Look back there; there's your story!"

I staggered up into the navigator's hatch and looked; we don't know whether it was Hall or Ellis or our own flight, but someone had completed the ruinous destruction started yesterday. The whole airdrome was a mass of explosions and big geysers of flame were licking high into the air to etch an unforgettable scene into our memories.

The secondary ack-ack positions meanwhile were giving us a continuous working over, and suddenly two enemy fighters pierced thru the clouds above us. One dived straight toward our three planes and the other veered off sharply toward a formation led by Lieut. Bill Helleriegals of Cleveland, O.

Taks Pictures

This was one time when ignorance was bliss. We immediately assumed that Staff Sgt. John Kimry of Philadelphia, Pa., our top turret gunner, was taking care of this aggressive Nip. We were wrong, however. Kimry's guns were jammed so he calmly remained in the upper turret and shot pictures of the attacking Zero and the blazing airdrome behind.

But Lieut. Craig Krayenbuhl of Louisville, Ky., had guessed our plight and he swung over to take the fire from the Japanese off our tail. His ace gunner poured a stream of tracers into the Jap's nose and wings and when last seen the Zero was hurtling off in a stepp bank with smoke pouring from the engine.

We were racing through the clouds now with Wewak 50 miles behind and the excitement apparently was over except for interception sweeps. We could hear our Lightnings battling the Zeros somewhere far above us. We climbed swiftly to 16,000 feet and came out of the thunderheads into a sea of billowing clouds.

Unit Intact

Our unit at least, close scrutiny showed, was intact. There was something both satisfying and reassuring about seeing friends around us.

The "blow it" on our wing, with Lieut. Ernest Jones of Cincinnati, O., at the controls, waved in salute.

He swung through a shortcut over the Owen Stanleys back to the base. I was fiddling with the radio receiver as we reached the drome and heard the first words of an Australian newscaster reading Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique announcing the first great victory at Wewak.

Ted Fitch picked it up, too. He turned around with a big smile and said to me, "That broadcasting guy will have to think up some new adjectives for today's show."

AROUND CITY HALL

Word reached City Hall this morning that Roy Furman, contractor, of Waynesburg, was completing a job there and was expected to begin resurfacing here next week. Bids have also been asked by the state for resurfacing of state highway extensions in the city, it was reported.

Cool weather has had a tendency to lower attendance at the Cascade Park bathing pool, but with warm days ahead it is likely that the pool will again be filled to capacity. Monday is kiddies' day and with cut rates effective, a throng of youngsters are expected there for an outing.

Men who gave the names of Joseph Wrona and John Davidson, arrested for drunkenness and disorderly conduct in West Washington street last night were fined $25 each by Mayor Charles B. Mayne. John Toy, arrested for disorderly conduct in Florence avenue, received the same fine.

ALERT IN DELAWARE
(International News Service)

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 20—The entire state of Delaware underwent a surprise forty-minute test air raid alarm this morning just as thousands of war workers were preparing to leave their homes.

The confidential yellow signal was flashed at 5:50 a. m. EWT and the first blue alert was sounded at 6:15 a. m. The red signal sounded at 6:35 a. m., and the second blue at 6:45 a. m.

The white or all clear signal came at 6:55 a. m.

BOMB FOGGIA BASE
(International News Service)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 20.—American flying fortresses, operating from African bases, blasted the Italian airdrome at Foggia, 80 miles northwest of Naples, yesterday, as the Allies kept up their offensive against the Italian mainland, Allied headquarters announced today.

RUDY VALLEE WILL MARRY AFTER WAR

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20.—Rudy Vallee, the band leader, is going to be married after the war to a blonde beauty he met in a magazine.

The bride-to-be is Betty Jane Greer, 18, who is under contract to Producer Howard Hughes but who has not yet appeared in pictures.

They admitted their engagement today, but said that the marriage would not be until the end of the war.

The marriage will be the first for Miss Greer; the second for Vallee.

NO SUCKER STORY
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 — Did you ever hear a fish grunt, purr, drum or grind its teeth?

The Interior Department revealed that the navy and the fish and wildlife service have perfected a unique listening device which actually records "unhearable" underwater sounds.

Navy experts obtained their most surprising results with the ugly, bad-tempered toadfish, which deposits its eggs in oyster shells or tin cans, and has a voice like a steamboat whistle.

Only the male pintail duck has a pintail.

Armour Ideas Make the Most of Meat

Quick, Individual Barbecued Meat Loaves

Cut your baking time in half tonight by making individual barbecued loaves instead of one big meat loaf! It takes only 1½ pounds of ground beef to make 8 of them . . . and everyone gets the cherished crust! Beef chuck is a good juicy cut to use for meat loaves—and you can count on good flavor and high food value if you get Armour's. For the Armour brand is an unfailing sign of choice quality in beef.

Mix ½ cup fine dry bread crumbs with ½ cup Armour's Evaporated Milk and season with 2 tsps. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper. To this add 1½ lbs. ground Armour's branded beef chuck, ½ lb. ground lean pork, 2 tbsps. chopped onion and blend well. Shape into 8 individual meat loaves and place in a shallow pan. Use half of these per portion for 4 loaves.

Over them pour barbecue sauce you make this way: Heat together ½ cup catsup, ½ cup vinegar, 1 tbsp. Worcestershire Sauce, 1 tsp. chili powder and 2 tbsps. chopped onion. Bake 45 min. at 350° F., basting once or twice.

Butter Shortage Serious By Fall

Food Administration Official Suggests Point Lowering On Oleomargarine

By ERWIN D. SIAS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 — A war food administration official on Thursday said civilian butter supplies will hit a low ebb late in November and at the same time intimated that OPA may reduce the point value of oleomargarine as an incentive for substitution.

There is a large supply of oleomargarine on hand, the spokesman said, which could be used to tide the nation over the seasonal butter shortage period.

If the present point value of Oleo were lowered from the present four points, it would encourage increased use of the product, he explained, and take the strain off the butter situation.

Meanwhile, federal reports show that while an enormous stockpile of butter—estimated at about 200,000,000 pounds—is being built up by the government, many stores along the eastern seaboard are without butter.

This was explained in part by a WFA spokesman who pointed out that the government's policy is to buy heavily of butter supplies during high production periods so that civilian allotments won't be endangered by federal buying during times of shortage.

The latest monthly report by the FDA on the government's cold storage butter supply disclosed that on Aug. 1 the total was 209,845,000 pounds.

train stopped at Chattanooga," the price administrator replied.

McKellar then proceeded to question his visitor about prices.

"What is the price of pork today?" the senator queried.

"I don't know," was the reply.

"And of guineas?"

"What are they?" was the response.

Six months later the lad—then 27, who had been a department store clerk—was in the army. . . .

High administration officials confidently predict that the food situation will be under control by early November.

They forecast that Congress will appropriate money for government purchase of basic commodities for resale to the public—just as England is doing now.

Another part of the program includes imposition of price ceilings on livestock—long a bone of contention between OPA on one hand and the War Food Administration and Department of Agriculture on the other.

Both steps comprise administrative capitulation to Congress, which has held out against all subsidies which are not paid directly to producers. Price rollbacks are consumer subsidies and never benefit the producers, House and Senate contend. . . .

Members of the United States Senate are the aristocrats of all the legislators of the country—overshadowing even their colleagues in the house of representatives.

Every senator has at least three rooms in his office suite—a house member only two. Two small monorail cars carry senators between their office building and the capitol. House members have a subway but no cars.

In the senate chamber each member has his own desk and chair. The hall of the house has seats arranged in theater fashion—and no desks.

But it's also true that the house restaurant serves better food at much lower prices. A haircut in the house barber shop is 35 cents against 40 in the senate shop.

Moreover, in this hot weather the house restaurant serves an ample glass of foaming brew. In the senate, it's ice water.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

being a solid and enthusiastic demand from organized labor for the President to run again.

THIS was felt particularly desirable because, so far, the groups which are openly insisting upon a fourth term for Mr. Roosevelt are the CIO and the Communists. The former, through the unctuous Mr. Philip Murray, rushed into the leadership position a little too blatantly. And the embarrassment was not lessened by the official, and slightly comic, Communist indorsement of Frank Hague, of New Jersey, as a "reward" for his Roosevelt support. When to these elements is added the American Labor Party, of New York, with its strong Communistic flavor, the setup assumed a radical tinge which some thought not calculated to appeal to the great masses of the American people.

THE WISDOM of bringing the strongly anti-Communist and generally conservative AFL into this pre-convention combination was apparent and the invitation to join in a "political action" committee seemed a sure way to do that. Such a committee, it was argued, would speak for all labor, instead of just a faction. It would vaccinate against the charge that the fourth-term demand came primarily from the extreme radicals and would again permit plausible use of the word "draft." That is the way it was planned and Mr. Murray was the instrument through whom it was to be put over.

AS THE MOST obsequious and subservient of all the labor lobbyists he seemed the proper White House instrument and the invitation was so worded that there could be AFL acceptance without seeming violation of its traditions and with every appearance of cooperation only on broad, general political lines. Once politically hooked up with the CIO, however, little trouble was expected in making the lines specific. But, it has not worked out that way. The AFL declines the invitation and the groups calling for the fourth term still remain the CIO, the Communist organs and the American Labor party. No one realizes better than the White House politicians that this is not a good combination to be conspicuously identified with the "draft". There is chagrin at the refusal of the AFL to "join up", which is attributed to Republican influence within that organization. Something else, it is urged, should be tried. Something else will be—and pretty soon.

First GAC Practice Of Season Tuesday

New Units To Be Selected, Merit System Explained At High School Meeting

All members of the GAC will meet for their first drill practice of the new '43 season Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the Senior high school. Miss Margaret Fischer, director of the GAC, wishes to emphasize that incoming members, or recruits, as well as alumnae members who plan to leave the organization, should be present.

The drum corps and color guard, new units within the GAC, will be selected and organized.

Recent promotions will become effective at the meeting on Tuesday, and the new merit system, under which attendance, conduct and other factors in military discipline will be rated, is to be explained.

Alumnae members not planning to continue membership will be asked to turn in their guns, hats and gloves, or to arrange to do so with Miss Fischer if they cannot attend the meeting.

All GAC officers will meet in the high school office on Monday night.

Veteran Airmen Wants Quiet Life

Former Barnstormer Warns Of Pacifist Crackpots After The War Is Won

By ART COHN
(I. N. S. Staff War Correspondent)

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Aug. 20.—Thank heaven for the soldier of fortune. He has compiled one of the noblest records in this war, as he has in every war.

Out of this heroic mold came Lieutenant Colonel Earl A. Field. With the help of Bill Dugan . . .

School Mates

"Bill and I went to high school together in Hoisington, Kansas," he says, "he was a little older and got in the last war as a pilot. They put 28 slugs in him one day over Belgium and took him prisoner. When they saw his condition they left him for dead but Bill found a half bottle of Cognac somewhere and survived. He was in prison camp two years.

"When he came home he hopped me all up about aviation so we scraped together $700, bought a Jenny and went into business. We barnstormed throughout the middle west, every wheat field was a landing field, and when we landed every farmer for miles around came to look at our plane.

"Usually we gave the mayor of the town a free ride as a come-on, then the whole town wanted to go up. We let 'em—at 10 bucks a head—and cleared an average of $200 a day. Except for the wind and high grass it was a lot of fun."

Field was 18 and aviation was in his blood.

Got Married

"Then I was married, when my daughter Gloria was five years old I bought her a Taylor Cub. That's right, she flew a ship when she was five. Gloria was the star attraction in our circus. We did stunts, parachute jumps and the usual circus acts."

But all this was preamble. I wanted to hear of his experiences in Mexico, whispers of which I had heard over the teacups in Australia. It seems that five or six devil-may-care American soldiers of fortune went to Mexico thirteen or fourteen years ago during one of its periodic revolutions . . . .

But Field wanted to change the subject and since he's a lieutenant colonel, that is his prerogative.

Hope We Learn

"I hope our country learns something from this war," he said. "After the last one all the pacifists and allied crackpots took over, just as Germany and Japan wanted. You cannot always pick your neighbors and you have to live in the same world with Germany and Japan.

"They spiked up, they became militaristic nations, and look what they have done. We want to think we can escape war but according to history we haven't been very successful. We win our wars, as we'll win this one, because we can outproduce any other nation in the world, but we have to pay a long price . . ."

Soldiers of fortune are realists, they have no illusions about the world's frailties. They realize a country cannot stay out of war merely by wishing.

Lieutenant Colonel Field, a fighting airman, at this moment in the field at an advanced base, doesn't want war.

He wants to live a normal life from here on in but he knows man cannot have it merely by wishing for it, he has to fight for it.

What have you done today to help?

SEVEN LABOR CASES CERTIFIED TO NWLB

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—A dispute involving 6,200 employes in the E. I. DuPont de Nemours & Co. Deepwater plant in Pennsgrove, N. J., today was one of seven cases certified to the National War Labor board.

Other cases were the Congoleum-Nairn, Inc. plant at Marcus Hook; the Pennsylvania Saw company in York, the Patterson-Kelley Co., boiler makers in East Stroudsburg, the William H. Thropp & Sons Co., rubber and plastic factory, at Trenton, N. J.; the American Pulley Co., and the Linear Packing and Rubber Co., both of Philadelphia.

Infections of the hand in industry cause greater loss of working days than any other single condition.

Mullentowners Enjoy Reunion

Fourteenth Annual Reunion Draws Crowd To Cascade Park Thursday

Its always fair weather when old friends get together and this quotation describes the fourteenth annual reunion of the Mullentown Association held at Cascade Park yesterday better than any words the writer can muster.

Despite the war and rationing there was a good sized crowd present and a most delightful time was had. The dinner in the grove was all that could have been expected as the tables were loaded with the finest the culinary art has brought forth.

Music And Talks

There was music, singing and talks. The do you remember crowd was there with events of past years which were discussed at length and many forgotten affairs were recalled. Billy Williams was present and during the reunion sang a number of selections which were much enjoyed. Hugh Hannon also added his bit with a number of vocal selections and readings, but the crowning event was the presence of the Misses Evelyn Plum, Louise DeSalvo and Violet Germain, with their musical instruments, consisting of accordian and guitars. Their part of the program was greatly enjoyed and they were voted honorty members of the Mullentown Association an honor which they greatly appreciated. And of course there was group singing also.

President Hugh Hannon presided and at the election of officers Bert Evans was chosen president and he outlined his program for the coming year; Billy Williams was elected vice president and C. Ed. Brown was re-elected secretary for the fourteenth time, and Clair Glass, treasurer.

Report Deaths

Five deaths were reported during the year, being J. Herb McIlvenny, former president; Joseph Patterson, J. Herman Workman, John Wysner and Mrs. George Wysner.

The several committees having the affair in charge and responsible for the most successful reunion held for a number of years were as follows:

General committee: Bert Evans, C. Ed Brown and Dan Phillips.

Entertainment: Mrs. Ida Suber, Clay Auble, Hugh Horton, Mrs. Pearl Cook, Clair Glass and May Hammond.

Coffee: Nell Fulkerson and Ruby Rote.

Table committee: Mrs. Geo. Glass, Mrs. Ruth Sisley, Mrs. Earl Dart, Mrs. Dabe Samuels.

Reception: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Fullerton, Daniel Reeble, Mrs. Geo. Loudon, Mrs. Walter Hamilton, Mrs. Laura Curran, Mrs. May Matthews, Mrs. Mary Dukes, Mrs. Mary Lockley and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Patton.

STAY-AT-HOME KANT

Immanuel Kant, immortal philosopher who wrote of the earth and the heavens, lived to the ripe age of 81 years, and never journeyed more than 20 miles from Koenigsberg, Germany, the place of his birth.

No matter how much she loves them, a vacation for a woman means getting away from the children for a few days.

Hull Calls Story Trumped Up Rumor

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull used strong language to slap down a story appearing in the Swiss and Algiers press that the United States would negotitae with Pierre Laval Hitler s No. 1 French stooge.

Hull asserted that such a story was almost too silly to comment on but that on its face any intelligent persons knows its utter falsity.

The story, Hull continued, is nothing but a trumped up rumor based on falsehood by some person who wanted to do a wanton injury to this government.

Such a story, he added, is a feeble undertaking by a very feeble person.

Kentucky Girl Denies Murders

Accused Of Killing Father, Brother, School Girl Blames Prowler

(International News Service)

BURLINGTON, Ky., Aug. 20.—A pretty 16-year-old girl accused of the "nightmare" murder of her father and six-year-old brother and the wounding of her mother, Thursday denied the charge and insisted a prowler committed the crimes.

She is auburn-haired Joe Ann Kiger, Covington, Ky., school girl. Her father, Carl C. Kiger, 49, was vice mayor of Covington and locally prominent in politics.

He and Joe Ann's brother, Jerry, were killed in the mysterious fusillade that swept their home. Mrs. Jennie Kiger was wounded on the right hip.

Joe Ann pleaded not guilty on her arraignment and her attorney, Sawyer Smith, declared his belief in her innocence.

"If she did it, she was suffering from hallucinations," he said.

Later he said he was confident the prowler Joe Ann described fired the fatal shots.

Joe Ann told authorities she awakened early Tuesday morning and saw a figure standing by the open door of her parents' bedroom and firing a gun into the room.

She said she ran and got a pistol and fired several shots at the man, who dropped his gun and ran. Attorney Smith said Joe Ann's wounded mother confirmed the girl's story.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—"Pin-Up" girls and "Maestros of song, dance and comedy," are going to pin their support to the third war loan drive, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced.

Morgenthau said that more than 25 "top-flight" screen stars have again volunteered to make a coast-to-coast "bombardment" tour by train to put across "the voluntary support of the war."

Most tantalizing half-told story of the war: Germans are making Radar equipment from "captured" blue prints.

BLOOD

Pure blood and rich blood is very necessary for good health.

When blood escapes from the body in some unusual way, there is trouble somewhere.

If such a thing happens, your doctor should be consulted right away.

Do not put it off because there is only a little bit of blood.

Cancer and tuberculosis are perhaps the most common cause of slight bleeding.

If they are detected in time, the chances are good.

State College Opens Course To Aid Sight

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Aug. 20.—Better vision for hundreds of Americans is the theme of a special two-weeks' course in visual re-education now being given at Pennsylvania State College by Dr. H. Ward Ewalt, Jr., of Pittsburgh.

Unusual success of the Penn State Reading Clinic in improving vision of many servicemen, children and civilian adults has led Dr. E. A. Betts, director of the clinic, to make available to vision specialists everywhere the methods used in the clinic.

Believing that the person with poor vision must "learn" how to see better, techniques of both monocular and binocular visual re-training are being presented to help the patient form new vision habits.

More than 20 vision specialists some from as far away as Canada and South Carolina, have registered for the course.

Busy Term Looms For Westminster

Army Trainee Classes To Be Handled By Faculty Of The College

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Aug. 20.—Westminster's faculty members will have their hands full when the regular school term gets underway in mid-September. The faculty will be adding army courses to their regular classes and in some cases even going into other departments to handle the heavy army curricular program.

English and history are especially heavy the first quarter. All English department members will teach the army English course. Miss Leila McNeill has recently been added to the department to help carry the army program. Dr. A. T. Cordray, speech department head, has charge of an oral English course.

Dr. Leon Marshall, Thomas V. Mansell, and Irvin Wiley, most recent addition to the history department, are to handle the army history course.

Mrs. William A. Sarver, Miss Lola Sewell, Dean Harold L. Black, and Dr. Gilbert A. Taylor, professor of ancient languages, will teach college algebra and trigonometry the first quarter, analytic geometry, the second quarter, and calculus, during the third.

Besides the regular physics staff, consisting of Dr. James Swindler and Dr. John Moorhead, Dr. Donald Matthews, biology professor, Dr. John Orr, Bible department head, and at least one other professor have the physics classes.

Chemistry will be added for the second quarter. Besides the regular chemistry professors, Dr. Harold Osgood and Dr. Edward Metcalf, a new full-time man will be added.

Melvin Hetzler, former line coach for Westminster's football teams, returns to help athletic director Grover C. Washabaugh with the physical education department.

The new paratrooper carries a spade. That is to dig himself out when the weight of his equipment drives him in the ground.

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers Are Outlined Here

Violators of the air-raid drill of August 6, 1943, were heard August 17. When asked to explain why they did not heed the wardens when their attention was called to the air-raid drill, they were able to satisfy the OCD representatives that their violation was unintentional. No action was taken.

We want to remind all persons that were notified of a meeting to be held at City building Friday evening, to be sure and be present or have a representative at this meeting. There is business to be discussed that needs to be brought to the attention of a representative group of OCD personnel. Your voice in the matter is needed. Make an extra effort to attend. The meeting will last 40 minutes.

We have been told that auxiliary firemen have been holding a practice with their pumping outfit each week. This only applies to a few groups. Other auxiliary fire groups should be doing the same thing. What is your group doing? As you now have all the equipment to do any or all the work as an organized fire company, do you know how to do it?

City OCD still has need of air raid wardens, fire watchers, rescue squad, auxiliary firemen, auxiliary policemen, demolition squad, decontamination squad, road repair crew and men for all other branches of OCD. We will be pleased to talk to you about any of these squads.

Roosevelt Sends Eisenhower Wire On Sicily Triumph

(International News Service)

QUEBEC, Aug. 20 — President Roosevelt Thursday wired his congratulations to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for successfully concluding the Sicilian campaign "in accordance with the timing and planning of the Allies."

Messaging Eisenhower from the Citadel here, where he is in the midst of war conferences with British Prime Minister Churchill, the President requested Eisenhower to tell the men who participated in the campaign, "well done."

Following is the text of the congratulatory message:

"The Sicily campaign now successfully concluded in accordance with the timing and planning of the Allies had thrilled all of us. This is especially true when we realize that the enemy forces on Sicily amounted to 405,000 men.

"The events of the past thirty-eight days show what can be done by team work based on preparation, training, timing, and above all on gallantry on land, on sea, and in the air.

"From the ancient Citadel of Quebec, I send to you my warm congratulations; and to the officers and men under your command, British, Canadian, French and American, my thanks and enthusiastic approbation. Tell them, 'well done.'"

Typhoid Menace In Cities Is Halved

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—The journal of the American Medical Association said Thursday deaths due to typhoid in 93 large United States cities have been reduced 50 per cent in the last two years.

In 1940 the death toll from the disease was 190 while 1942 had only 95 deaths.

The figures were from a report obtained from local health officers who were asked to make a survey of their localities. The death rate per 100,000 population was only 0.23 per cent.

Thirty-one cities reported no typhoid deaths during the past two or more years. Fort Wayne, Ind., leads the nation with no deaths recorded in the last eight years.

NEWS AND VIEWS AT CAPITAL

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 20.—Capitol Hill employes are toeing the line as rumors of wholesale shake-ups in the various executive departments gain momentum. Gov. Edward Martin said he has been making some studies of personnel changes "but not enough to say just yet." In the asserted interest of "efficiency and economy" Secretary of Highways John U. Shroyer has dismissed approximately 600 of the department's employees including many technicians who have had years of service. This has reduced the state payroll by about $1,000,000 annually, it is claimed.

Meanwhile, more for political reasons than for economy and efficiency, nearly 400 Democratic appraisers, collectors, clerks and other employes in the inheritance and mercantile tax appaisers bureau have been replaced with G.O.P. stalwarts. The Republican majority of the 1943 legislature grabbed the jobs from Democratic Auditor General F. Clair Ross and shifted them to the revenue department under Secretary David W. Harris, who is also Republican city chairman of Philadelphia. The governor also hinted revisions in the department of public instruction.

The commerce department reports that an influx of late summer vacationists will fill the guests lists of Pennsylvania's mountain and lake resorts. An abundance of mail is being handled daily from servicemen on leave and honeymooners regarding the various resorts. Many hotels, inns and camps are extending their summer vacation period this year in order to accommodate them, the department said.

More than a third of Pennsylvania's war production trainees during the year ended June 30 were women, according to Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas. During that time the state enrolled 174,566 persons for training in war industries. Mrs. Mary Rice Morrow, director of the labor and industry department's bureau of women and children, said that "the employment of women in all industry is now recognized as a major factor in the winning of the war."

State Senator Elmer J. Holland, Pittsburgh Democrat, who during the recent legislature almost single-handed blocked confirmation of Dr. Frank Parker, of Philadelphia, as public utility commissioner, repeatedly complained of heckling during his many speeches "by the gentlemen on the other side of the house". The Republicans would retort that he was "waving the flag" in his speeches. Holland now has put aside speeches for the duration of the war. He has been commissioned a U. S. army major.

PIX PEP WORK

Action motion pictures made on the war front are increasing defense production and cutting down absenteeism. By showing the role of the weapons they make in actual battle, the whole war effort is thus synthesized for factory workers.

Under wartime operation, railroad freight cars must travel about 16 per cent farther on the average haul.

Red Squirrels Are Destructive

Red squirrels are destructive, in fact, they are akin to a weasel and it isn't good to encourage them around a home said Owen Fox, nature lover today. He reported that apparently there are numerous such squirrels around this city.

"The red squirrel is not like the Fox or Gray squirrel. They do not bury their nuts in the ground but hide them in an old log, decayed tree and especially in bird nests. They eat bird eggs and young fledglings" he said.

Kidnapped Child Is Found In 48 Hours

(International News Service)

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 20.—Forty-eight hours after his abduction, Jimmy Cash, 28-month-old son of Mrs. Irish Cash, Thursday was back with his mother in Salt Lake City, and Margaret Anderson was being held by police for further investigation in connection with the abduction.

Miss Anderson, 24, was arrested by Ogden, Utah, police after she had made an inquiry at an Ogden relief home for assistance.

Immediately following her arrest, she told Ogden police that she abducted the infant because she liked the child, and thought she "could give him a better home than his parents could."

The Bismarck sea, in the South Pacific, is somewhat larger than Lakes Superior and Michigan combined.

Educators Face Serious Problem

Lack Of Teachers Due To War And Industrial Service Hampers Education

3,000 TEACHERS NOW IN SERVICE

By SUZANNE FLICK
(I. N. S Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 20.—School teachers leaving the classroom for duty with the armed forces have created a serious problem for educators, Dr. Francis B. Haas, superintendent of public instruction, asserted today.

Presents Problem

"An appreciable number of teachers, both men and women, are in the armed forces," Haas stated, "and the lack of teachers during the coming school year presents a serious problem."

According to Harvey E. Gayman, executive secretary of the Pensylvania State Education Association, over 3,000 teachers are now in the armed services. Of this number 415 are women, the majority in the WAVES. It was also estimated that one out of every six male teachers has been inducted into military service.

This depletion will be felt more in some fields of teaching than in others, Haas explained, notably in rural schools and physical and vocational education, "with the greatest scarcity developing in industrial arts, or vocational education, in primary grades." The greatest shortage in secondary schools is in the mathematics and science departments, he added.

'Essential Worker' Is Number Writer

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 20.—Jack Hirschman, war worker, won't enjoy his "day off" from work for some time. He'll be spending that day off behind jail bars for nine weeks.

Hirschman, confessed numbers operator was aiso sentenced by Judge Henry Ellenbogen today to serve six consecutive days to round out a 15 to 30-day sentence and must pay a $100 fine.

Hirschman, 32, who got his war job after being arrested in his confectionary May 5 pleaded. "My job with the American Bridge Company at Ambridge is so important that my crew of 20 men can't work unless I read blueprints to them." The plea was ignored; he was also directed to pay $51 in court costs assessed him after a fraudulent conversion conviction in 1941.

Local Girl Becomes Recreation Worker

Miss Marjorie Myers Of R. D. 1 In Red Cross Service At Moore General Hospital

Assignment of Miss Marjorie Myers of R. D. 1 to Moore General hospital as a new American Red Cross chief recreation worker was announced today by Red Cross eastern area headquarters in Alexandria, Va.

After completing Red Cross Orientation at American university, Washington, D. C., under the direction of Ferdinand Grayson, chief of personnel training unit for Red Cross services to the armed forces, and Miss Mildred Tate, associate chief of personnel training in charge of hospital training, Miss Myers has assumed her duties at Swannanoa, N. C., near Asheville.

Before entering Red Cross work, Miss Myers was a teacher of junior high school studies in Adams public school, Youngstown. She is a graduate of Heidelberg university, Tiffin, O., and holds a master's degree from Columbia university.

She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton K. Myers of the Ellwood road.

C. B. Monro Urges Vison And Daring

Aviation Head Says "Too Little Thinking" For Post War Solution

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—C. Bedell Monro, president of Pennsylvania-Central Airlines, urged America to utilize the "vision and daring" of the aviation industry in shaping the post-war world for returning American soldiers.

"There is too little thinking, too little planning for the solution of the greatest problem that ever faced this nation," said Monro regarding preparations for the peace.

In a speech, Monro asserted that veterans of World War II will not want "work relief or government hand-outs of any of the kindred hang-overs resulting from the blind hours of our national life that followed the First World War.

"What they expect from those on the home front are vision and the will to build and the towering achievements characteristic of the world of aviation," he declared.

Monroe, youngest head of a major American airline, charged that "few industries in the country have even begun to plan the immediate absorption into productive activity of the millions of demobilized soldiers, sailors and marines."

Warning that "today we are headed down the same path through complacency and lack of foresight," he said "we must borrow the vision and the daring of the aviation industry and utilize it in planning a world that glories in the building of a new life far more advanced than any Americans have yet conceived."

Questions Right Of House Speaker

Philadelphian Enters Suit Against Ira T. Fiss Over Date Of Special Election

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 20 — The right of the speaker of the house to set Sept. 14, the day of the primary, instead of Nov. 2, general election day, for the election of three Philadelphia assemblymen was disputed Thursday in Dauphin County Commonwealth Court by Philadelphia Democrats.

Counsel for Walter Spangler, Philadelphia, who has filed suit against Speaker Ira T. Fiss, Secretary of the Commonwealth Charles M. Morrison and the Philadelphia election board, contended that Fiss abused his discretion and should have designated Nov. 2, thus saving expense and permitting a greater number of voters to participate.

Opposing counsel argued that the speaker was within his legal bounds because the law specifically provides that he may select either the primary, general or municipal election as the day for a special election.

Labor Sanctions Not WLB Function

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Aug. 20—The War Labor Board is not the agency to execute sanctions and penalties against workers and unions involved in strikes it was declared Thursday by R. J. Thomas, president of the UAM-CIO.

In answer to recent WLB statements threatening penalties, Thomas declared that he does not believe "that vesting the WLB with powers to punish unions or strikers will aid our efforts" because the board "was conceived as a mediation and arbitration agency."

"To change the WLB into an agency of punishment will serve only to undermine its ability to carry out its original function,' he said. "It will diminish the standing of the WLB in the eyes of the workers."

Walkout Slows Ford Foundry

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Aug. 20.—Twelve striking UAW-CIO workers in the Ford Rouge production foundry on Thursday resulted in 300 other employes being sent home for lack of materials.

A company spokesman said the 12 men walked out when the company refused to work four men on each cupola in the foundry instead of the usual three.

During hot summer days, it was said, company police permitted four men to work on each cupola.

SILENCE IN EUROPE HELD SIGNIFICANT

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Reports from the continent Thursday suggested that a major development has taken place inside Italy but information concerning what has transpired was prevented from leaking out by a tight new censorship.

All telephone communications between Italy and neutral countries were cut off again by the Italian government. The frontier between Switzerland and Italy was said to have been closed at Piazzo.

In England, boots which can't be repaired are converted into fertilizer.

Henry Wallace Wants To Talk To Business Men

Claims He was Misinterpreted In Statement About Abolishing Corporations

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Vice-President Henry A. Wallace on Thursday said he wants to make a speech before "some suitable business group"—preferably the United States Chamber of Commerce to deny charges that he seeks to abolish corporations.

"In order that business men might not come to such a meeting under a delusion, it is my experience that 95 per cent of the corporations are either harmless or beneficient," said Wallace.

Misinterpreted

The vice-president said that a recent speech attacking "American Fascists" was misinterpreted by some, who believed that he sought to attack all private business.

"My quarrel is with those corporations which try to make Washington a way station for Wall street," he said. "The 95 per cent which do not follow this course possibly suffer more than anyone else from the practice.

"There are certain, very large corporations who are especially interested in international affairs and whose object is to control government. I object to them."

Form Is Essential

Wallace said that the corporate form of organization is essential in a democratic country such as the United States in order to carry on business efficiently, both on large and small scales.

"The difficulty with corporations comes when certain of the larger ones try to control the agencies of public opinion, including even the schools, and then go on to dominate elections, control state legislatures, the national congress and even the president himself," Wallace explained.

Jap Propagandist Makes Wild Claims

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The Japanese Domei news agency declared Thursday in a Tokyo broadcast that 31 American warships and 41 transports had been sunk or damaged in the past six or seven weeks. More than 80 American planes were claimed shot down during the same period.

SEVEN KILLED ON ROADS IN COUNTY SINCE JANUARY 1

Seven person were killed in Lawrence county by motor vehicles during the first six months of 1943, according to a survey received today from Harrisburg. Of that number, five met death in the rural section, and two within city or boro limits. Five out of the seven victims were pedestrians.

Compared with the first six months of 1942, this death total shows a decrease of three.

ELECTION APPOINTMENTS

Election appointments to fill vacancies on election boards throughout the county were made by President Judge W. Walter Braham on Wednesday. More of these are expected to be made as the date of the primaries, September 14, nears, because of removals from districts and the fact that many elected to the election boards are working in defense plants and canont spare the time from their work.

Appointments made Wednesday were as follows:

COMPROMISE PETITION

In the suit of John Fusco and Concetta Fusco and Jennie Fusco, a minor by her parents, vs. the B. & O. railroad, a petition to compromise action, allow counsel fees and direct distribution of award, has been granted by Judge W. Walter Braham. The Fuscos reside in Ellwood City, and it is claimed that on April 23, 1943, Miss Jennie Fusco, aged 17 years, fell down the steps leading to the B. & O. depot, which it is contended were in a bad condition, resulting in injuries requiring medical expenses of $47. Suit for $1,000 damages was instituted, and a compromise in the sum of $250 has been agreed upon.

GIVE REGISTRATION FIGURES

Work of registering the voters for the coming primary election on September 14 has been completed by the Registration Commission, which is composed of W. R. Walton, George H. Bolinger and Joseph F. Travers, county commissioners. Registrar A. Lewis Conn had the tabulation of voters completed for distribution yesterday, the task having occupied the staff in his office throughout the week, registration having terminated last Saturday.

The figures reveal that there are 38,730 voters eligible to cast ballots at the primary election September 14. Of this number, 21,090 are males and 17,640 females. These include men in service, of which there are a great number, and others whose work keeps them out of the city, only a small fraction of whom will likely cast their ballots at the primaries.

There are 27,352 Republicans, 11,129 Democrats, 61 Prohibitionists, one Progressive, two Royal Oak, 159 non-partisan, 23 Independents and three Socialists.

GREEN TOMATOES HOTTEST

Green tomatoes are hotter than red tomatoes. Plant leaves "refrigerate" by absorbing solar energy and using it to vaporize water within the leaf structure, resulting in a general lowering of temperature. Red tomatoes are as much as 10 degrees cooler than green tomatoes.

SAYS CHINA WON'T QUIT
(International News Service)

PULLMAN, Wash.—With the help of more American planes, Chinese foot soldiers can "drive the Japanese back into the sea," said Dr. T. H. Shen, vice-director of the National Agricultural Research Bureau of China, who visited the Washington State College campus. "You can depend on the Chinese—they will never quit," Dr. Shen declared. "During the past year the Chinese have regained as much ground from the invaders as was lost to them."

State Industries Defer 52,177 Men

Many Others Deferred In Draft Not Listed In Manning Tables Surveyed

By TONY ZECCA
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Aug 20 — Manning tables and replacement schedules submitted by 1188 Pennsylvania concerns have provided deferments to approximately 52,177 registrants, state selective service headquarters disclosed Thursday.

It was pointed out, however, that there are "many other men" who have received industrial deferments other than by replacement schedules, but that the schedules, devised by the war manpower commission, provide for a more "orderly release" of men from industry.

Figures showed that of 825,966 persons listed in the schedules, 129,476 were subject to military service, the others being men past the age limit or women. The schedules provided for the release of 77,299 men during the first six months of operation. After that period, the lists must be revised as new men are employed and releases are scheduled for those who had previous deferments.

The U. S. Employment Service explained that the intent of the war manpower commission's latest order on work stabilization was aimed at deferring fathers by having them seek critical jobs. The order dovetails with the replacement schedules as it is hoped that fathers will fill the vacancies created by those released under the schedules.

Meanwhile, a monthly questionnaire has been sent to local boards by state headquarters with a request for accurate information on the number of draft-eligible fathers.

"The coming weeks will provide a severe testing period for selective service," a letter from state headquarters informed local board members. "The No. 1 requisite now is accurate information."

State headquarters asserted that the draft manpower pool was being supplemented each month by approximately 7000 youths reaching 18.

Plan Reunion Of Apollo Club

Former Male Glee Club To Hold Annual Reunion Late In October

G. Wilfred Thomas, president of the Apollo club, an organization of male singers that was prominent to and just after World War I, announced today that plans were being laid for the annual reunion to be held sometime late in October.

Committees have been appointed as follows. Place and tables, Arthur B. Harris and Leonard W. Kisthart. Table decorations, Wilfrid R. Short and Russell P. Rhodes. Program, William D. Williams, David W. Rees and Bart Richards. Transportation, Merle E. Battley and Arthur B. Harris. Publicity, Bart Richards and Roger E. Francis.

The Apollo club was organized in 1912 and was directed by Richard E. Johns. Each year the members get together for a dinner and a season of song.

U-Boat Commanders Use False Signals

Endeavor To Mislead Unarmed U. S. Transport Planes Into Range Of Guns

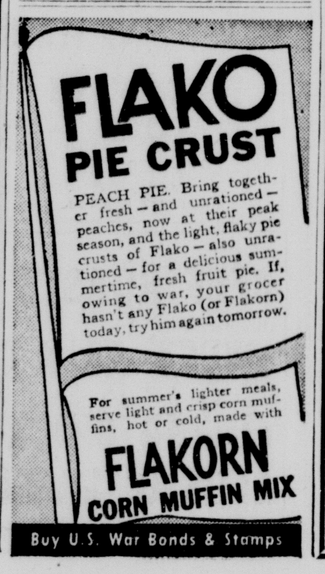

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 20—Crafty German U-boat commanders employ false radio signals in an attempt to lure passing unarmed U. S. transport planes within gun range, the pilot who flew President Roosevelt 6,000 miles of his historic flight to Casablanca revealed Thursday.

The ruse, however, has never proved successful for the U-boats, Otis Bryan of Kansas City, vice president in charge of war projects for Trancontinental & Western Air., Inc., told the Boston Aeronautic Association.

"On several occasions German submarines have in some manner acquired information regarding the radio code signals we use to direct aircraft and have transmitted these signals on frequencies assigned to us by the army," he said.

"We have had several flights directed far off course but fortunately in each case the pilot realized something was wrong, double checked his direction, and corrected his course in time to avoid mishap."

Ultimate Dollar Based Upon Soil Says Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright—1942—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.

BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 20.—Letters continually come to me asking my idea as to what changes in the social and economic structure are ahead. These letters have increased since Vice President Wallace made his recent Detroit address. As this is a nice cool day, I am making a guess as to what developments may take place or at least the route that such developments may follow. These comments, however, are merely forecasts and I am not arguing for them.

BABSON

Begin With Fundamentals

Instead of Socialism, Fascism, Communism or even Capitalism succeeding, I expect that all of these—as now set up—will change. The "Single Tax" theory of Henry George or the "Eliminate Poverty" theory of Mrs. John Martin of Winter Park, Florida, comes nearer the desired goal. In selecting this goal, I make two assumptions as follows:

1. That soil, babies, education and religion are the four foundation stones of any permanent economic and social system.

2. That the coming economic system will be half-way between Capitalism and Communism. The free enterprise feature of Capitalism must be conserved; while a monopoly of the soil must be avoided. Home owners, who use the land, must be protected.

These four fundamentals—soil, babies, education and religion—must be met one at a time in order that we do not "bite off more than we can chew." My forecast therefore, is that the first problem to be tackled will be the soil problem. By soil I include farms, home gardens, natural resources and improvements, all of which go to make up real estate. Due to high taxes farmers now have not the money to build up their soil and prevent its loss by erosion. As a result the nation is losing every day the soil equivalent of 200 forty-acre farms.

Fair Assessments A Protection

Real estate values and real estate owners—as well as the public—should be protected by fair and equal tax assessment. This can be accomplished only by legislation whereby the taxable body—town, city, county or state—must, upon request of the owner, take over said property at said assessed value any time on proper notice. This is the only way to prevent unfair assessments although said assessments can be readjusted each year. Why more ambitious politicians have not tackled the problem of present ruinous assessments is beyond my understanding.

Fair assessments by themselves, however, may not be enough to equalize opportunities and protect those who are diligently using property to raise families or crops. I, therefore, forecast that the time may come when real estate can be purchased or sold only at the assessed values. This would prevent both unfair foreclosures by banks and greedy lenders, and it would enable young people to buy farms and other property at fair prices. Banks may at first object to this, but in the end it would protect their mortgages and enable buyers of property to more easily secure mortgage money.

"After-The-War" System

We hear much discussion regarding what is going to be put "behind the dollar" after the war. Some economists are urging a Commodity Dollar, the value to move up and down according to the cost of living; others recommend a Production Dollar based more upon the nation's improvements; while others present still different plans. I hope that the world will return to a reasonable gold standard—at least until we straighten out present economic problems.

Without advocating any special money theory, my guess is that the ultimate dollar will be based upon the soil. This does not mean based upon the number of acres which a nation has, but rather that it correlate with the productivity of these acres. This in turn will depend on the quality of the soil, natural resources, and upon the number of children, including their education and religion. This "Land Value Dollar" is probably a long way off, but my guess is that all countries must finally come to it.

"Land Value Dollar"

The first step toward a "Land Value Dollar" must be fair assessments and the willingness of the government to redeem its dollars in land values or issue dollars for land value. In other words, to make the dollars good and assure equal opportunities to young people, it may become necessary for everyone to be able to get land for their dollars or dollars for their land at a fair assessed value. This may be fifty or more years hence. Certainly, I am not arguing for it at the present time; but to statisticians it seems inevitable some day. Some accompanying restrictions must then be provided to avoid bootlegging in land. Perhaps only a return to religion will do this.

People will not always stand for capitalism as it now relates to land holdings. On the other hand, the Russian system where all land and improvements are owned by the state crushes private initiative. Fascism is an attempt at a happy medium whereby the land is owned privately but the government tells its people what to do with it, how to use it, when to sell it, etc. This fantastic Russian system will not work in the long run.

What Do Readers Think?

I have already too much correspondence from readers, but I am now curious to know how readers feel regarding the assessments on their property. As this column will appear in some 350 papers scattered throughout the forty-eight states, I am this week asking readers to answer this question: "Would you prefer to sell your property now at the assessed value or buy more property in your community at the assessed value?" Just write me a postal card either: "I would like to sell"; or "I would like to buy."

WAR IDEA FACTORY

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Aug. 20. A total of 11,395 ideas for saving materials or time in war production were accepted from employes during the last six months by the General Electric company, it was disclosed today.

The company also revealed it had awarded $127,515 to the workers for their worthwhile suggestions.

MARINE PLEADS FOR SAFETY IN INDUSTRY

Featuring the opening Safety Rally of the Aluminum company of America in the plant Thursday morning, August 19, was Marine Corporal Frank Larry Bogart, who was on the U. S. S. "Hornet" when she went down in the Battle of Santa Cruz. He is seen above as he addressed the employes gathering. From left to right the men in the front row are John M. Mitchell, Personnel Manager, who was master of ceremonies of the rally. William H. Haley, chairman of the Safety Executive committee, Corporal Bogart, H. J. Morrison, Works Manager and Dr. John J. McIlvaine, pastor of First Presbyterian church.

First Baptists Have Picnic, Cascade Park

Large Attendance Enjoy Splendid Program Of Sports, Amusements, Evening Entertainment

About 300 members of the First Baptist Sunday school attended the annual picnic Thursday afternoon and evening at Cascade park.

A basket picnic supper was served in the grove about 6:30, Rev. O. W. Hurst, the pastor, giving the invocation. Ice cream, coffee and cream was served by the committee, the Laura Strickler class, headed by Mrs. Perry McCune.

There were sports and amusements during the afternoon, under the supervision of Ralph Hay, with prizes for the following winners: Girls race, 8-10, Beverly McCart; 10-12, Betty Kray; 12-14, Dora Mae Egan. Two pebble races, Ruth Shoaf, Dora Mae Egan. Young ladies, Miss Mary Grossman; two boys pebble races, Charles Shoaf, Gordon McCartney; buzzing contest, Mrs. Sadie Lutton; treasure hunt, Charles Shoaf, which he divided with other contestants; sack race, Gordon McCartney; crab race, Donald Truby; husband calling, Mrs. D. R. Peterson; hog calling, D. R. Peterson; picnic spirit, Mrs. Roy Griffiths; horseshoe pitching, Frank Hay; guessing on four jars containing beans, W. E. Harris, Hazel Earl, Charles Metzler and W. H. Luikhart.

In the evening a delightful program was presented in the evening in the park auditorium. Mrs. Florence Weller was in charge of the program, with Chester Kyle directing pep singing, and Mrs. W. H. Luikhart accompanist. Rev. Hurst and Paul D. Weller, superintendent, thanked all who helped to make the picnic such a great success. The following took part in the program: Sidney Rogers, Mrs. Stanley Reese, Lutz sisters, "Gay Nineties quartet", Mrs. Clare Lutz, Mrs. Paul Fombelle, Mrs. Frank Williamson, Mrs. Ed Dout; young people's beauty chorus, barber shop quartet, W. E. Harris, W. H. Luikhart, Clare Lutz, Dan Peterson; "Star Duet", Mrs. Paul Weller, Chester Kyle.

After the singing of a number of favorite hymns, Rev. Hurst pronounced the benediction, remembering, among others, the soldier boys of the church.

HARLANSBURG

MISSIONARY MEETING

Ten members of the Ellen Bell Missionary Society met at the Presbyterian church recently with Mrs. Florence Varnum as leader. The program was as follows: Opening song, scripture and prayer; "Put Out the Dark", Mrs. Virginia Morehead; "A Hostel in Mexico City", Mrs. Edna Donley; "How Shall They Preach", Mrs. Jennie Eagleson; "A Service Man's Letter", Mrs. Pearl Reynolds; "A Youth Topic", Mrs. Henrietta Johnson; talk, Mrs. Gladys McConnell.

Plans were made to curtain the primary room and the meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Belva Stoner.

Next meeting will be held all day at the home of Mrs. Ellen Bell.

W. C. T. U. MEETS

Harlansburg W. C. T. U. met Thursday, August 12, at the home of Mrs. Olive Morehead. Next meeting will be with Mrs. Mildred Allison with Mrs. Edith Harlan as leader.

HARLANSBURG NOTES

Mrs. Elizabeth Harlan, Old Pittsburg road, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Willard Harlan.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rodgers of near Plaingrove were Sunday guests of Charles Eakin and Elizabeth.

Mrs. Robert Hutcheson of New Castle recently visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Walters.

Carol West is spending the week with her aunt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craig, Jr., and son, Oil City.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Totman attended the Cooper reunion Saturday at Portersville at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Plummer Cooper. Over 80 attended the picnic dinner and supper.

Plowing garden ground in the fall before the ground freezes gives the weather a chance to break up the soil. Alternate freezing and thawing followed by proper preparation in the spring will make it loose and pliable for planting. However, sandy soil will wash badly if plowed during heavy rains. It should be covered with manure and mulch, or sown to some winter cover crop.

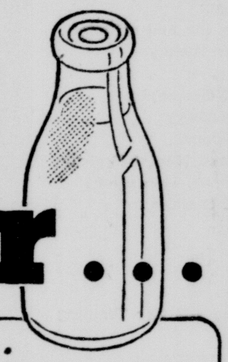

Pittsburgh, Pa., is colder than Copenhagen, Denmark, in the month of February.

Food Shortage Due To Draft Of Farm Labor

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Charging that farm labor is still being drafted for military service, Chairman Fulmer (D) S. C., of the House Agriculture committee today predicted a "serious" food shortage for the nation this winter and a resultant curtailment of supplies for the United Nations and occupied countries.

At the same time, he announced that he planned conferences with Chairman Andrew J. May (D) Ky., of the House Military committee on a bill to order harvest season furloughs for farm labor already drafted. Fulmer is proposing that it be incorporated in a measure which May is sponsoring to block the draft of fathers.

"I predicted last year that we would have a tremendous food shortage by the end of this year unless the drafting of farmers was stopped," Fulmer asserted . .

"There are going to be tons and tons of farm products which will not be harvested this year unless there is a last-minute change in policy. Already thousands of bushels of vegetables are rotting on the ground.

"If there is not quick action, not only will this nation face a food shortage of serious proportions, but we may be forced to curtail supplies to our Allies and the helpless millions in the occupied countries."

WOMAN BEFRIENDS TORTURED MOUSE

(International News Service)

JAMESTOWN, Pa., Aug. 20.—Mrs Edward Nelson didn't scream when she saw the mouse on the street corner. This particular mouse needed a friend and Mrs. Nelson was there to meet the emergency.

The woman arrived on the scene just as several men who had captured the mouse which they had tied to a string and fastened to an iron railing, were enjoying the creature's pathetic struggling. Without hesitation, Mrs. Nelson took the mouse in her white gloves and cut the string.

The shamefaced group of men hurriedly disbanded as Mrs. Nelson took poor "Ferdie" down the street until she found a puddle of water where he could drink. The mouse knew he had found a friend and he stayed right there until Mrs. Nelson came back with a piece of cheese from a nearby grocery store. After this last charitable act, Mrs. Nelson let her little friend run away.

HOW PICKPOCKET SPOTS HIS PREY

People With Money Walk Differently From Those With Empty Pockets

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—A professional pickpocket can tell at a glance whether a person is carrying cash or not, according to Hans von Hentig, director of the Colorado Crime Survey.

In his study of the art of pickpocketing, published in the Journal of Criminal Law and Crimnology, von Hentig disclosed the following psychological quirks that are well-known to the purse lifters.

They Act Differently

"People with money walk differently from those without. There is a distinct difference in the way they move their arms and inspect shop windows and restaurants. There's a general impression of self-assurance, ponderosity, unconcern and good humor—sometimes anxiety, too—presented by people with money in their pockets."

Although pickpockets can recognize a promising victim, it isn't easy to know a pickpocket, even at arm's length, von Hentig warned.

"The successful one is well dressed, but not elegantly. He has good manners. He uses the external fiction of wealth, good conscience and naivete to lull the victim into a feeling of security.

Likes to Work in Crowds

"The pickpocket likes to work in crowds, on buses because of their irregular movements and among concert audiences. Usually two work together, one plucking the wallet, and passing it quickly to the other, but sometimes a whole group unites to cause confusion in a crowd."

Master pickpockets—those with long muscular fingers and small hands kept soft with soda washes and cold cream—seldom spend a day in jail, von Hentig said. In addition, they teach their skill to newcomers who follow "a real tradition" and keep the trade going.

Children Should Be In Good Condition At Start Of School

State Secretary Of Health Urges Parents To Check Up On Health

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 20. — Parents are being urged today by State Secretary of Health A. H. Stewart to see that their children are in good physical condition when schools open in September for the 1943-44 term.

"The vacation period is rapidly drawing to a close," said Doctor Stewart. "Soon the schools will open for another school term. This is just as important a mobilization as that of our armed forces.

"Since the medical profession available to civilians is overworked it is essential that parents be sure their children are in fit physical condition This is not only a responsibility of parents, but it is an indication of our acceptance of civilian responsibility in the country's war effort.

"It is a greater problem than is recognized by many good parents as the records of this state show that when school convenes only about 30 out of 100 children will be free from physical defects; 60 out of 100 will be in need of dental attention; 25 out of 100 will be handicapped by visual defects; 15 out of 100 can be classed as having diseased, seriously-enlarged tonsils or adenoids; many cases examined will show indications of malnutrition and be in need of special diets."

KILLED IN TRAINING

(International News Service)

Will Exchange 1,500 Internees

By JACK VINCENT
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The state department today announced that a new agreement has been reached with Japan for the early exchange of 1500 Americans interned by the enemy in the Far East.

The United States will exchange a like number of Japanese internees.

The transfer will be made by exchange vessel Gripsholm by October 15.

Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles announced that the United States Government has requested Japan to obtain safe conduct for the Gripsholm.

The exchange, second since Pearl Harbor, is scheduled to take place at Mormutao, Goa, Portuguese India, and the vessel is scheduled to stop en route at Uruguay to pick up Japanese civilians in South America.

The exchange concerns civilian internees, it was explained, and not prisoners of war.

LIBERTY FREIGHTERS PROVE HARDY SHIPS

ST. HELENS, Ore.—Take it from the man who sails them, those Liberty freighters are hardy vessels despite the speed with which they are built.

Herbert Thompson, of St. Helens, a first assistant engineer, calls the ships "splendid boats" after many months of sailing abroad Liberty freighters exclusively in South Pacific war zones.

"They'll take all you can cram into the holds besides a pile on deck and they'll still behave in nasty seas," Thompson said. "Besides that they can maintain a speed of 12 knots without forcing the engines.

STILL ADVANCING

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Soviet troops have advanced northwest of Kharkov to a point only eight miles south of the important rail junction of Sumy, the Moscow radio said today.

CHINESE SOLDIER FINDS AMERICANS ARE 'VELLY CLAZY'

(International News Service)

CAMP WHITE, Ore.—It would tend to get monotonous hearing "jing schong qualese sun son tey" every day, especially if you couldn't translate it.

At least that's the way barracks mates of Pvt. Jay Jon, Chinese, at Camp White, felt about the whole thing. In vain, attempts to get a translation of Jon's constant singsong his buddies subjected him to a daily hazing ritual, including dumping him head first in a GI can, nailing his shoes to the barrack's floor, and a morning and evening hot-fot.

The soldiers know what it means now, but Jon didn't talk. It remained for another Chinese soldier to reveal that the mysterious words mean "Amelicans velly clazy people."

SHELL FRENCH COAST

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The Paris radio today reported British warships shelled the French coast yesterday afternoon and the German official news agency DNB said Nazi shore batteries at Cape Griz Nez fired on Royal Navy vessels at four p. m.

Whether the two enemy reports concerned the same British surface craft was not clear.

DNB said the vessels shelled off Cape Griz Nez were single-funneled craft which disappeared to the west after throwing up a smoke screen.

Dodgers Shake Losing Spree; Pirates, Yanks Cop

BUMS WHALE CHI CUBS, 9 TO 2; DiMAG HITS 14th

Yankees Travel 13 Innings To Edge Cleveland 2-1; Cincy Rally Tops Braves

PHILLIES DEFEAT CARDS AGAIN, 6-5

By JAMES POWERS
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Brooklyn Dodgers today could face their mirrors without flinching after several days of play when they might well have felt too bad even to look at one another. Curt Davis, who until yesterday had been unable to deliver a game for Leo the Lip since July 17, deserves admiration of friends and fans.

Reason for the loud hurrahs was that the Dodgers won a game. After losing three in a row, the Bums, sparked by Davis, took Chicago Cubs 9 to 2. Davis served one bad pitch, to Bill Nicholson in the first frame, allowing Nicholson his 18th homer of the season.

DiMag Pokes 14th

To practically no one's surprise the Giants lost to the Pirates, 8 to 1. Vince DiMaggio's 14th homer in the fourth inning with two on put the game on ice. Jim Russell knocked out two homers.

A three-run revolt by the Cincinnati Reds in the sixth inning against the Boston Braves gave Lefty Clyde Shoun a 7 to 5 victory. Ray Starr was retired in the fifth after Boston gained a 4 to 3 lead.

In a night game at Philadelphia the Phillies got four runs in the sixth and two in the seventh to push out the St. Louis Cardinals, 6 to 5. The Cards knocked Barrett out of the box with four runs in the eighth but were held in the home stretch by Kraus.

In the American League the Tigers and Boston Red Sox split a twin bill when the Sox edged out Detroit by 4 to 3 in the opener. The Tigers took the afterpiece, 10 to 0. In the second tilt Detroit exploded with a total of 14 hits, starting the barrage with a three-run first inning.

Yanks Nip Indians, 2-1

In an exhausting four-hour contest last night, the New York Yankees outlasted the Cleveland Indians to win the 13-inning game 2 to 1. Ernie Bonham collected his 12th victory of the season when the Yanks tied the score in the ninth and won the ball game on a two-bagger by Joe Gordon.

Sherrard Robertson and Jake Early both scored homers to give Washington a 4 to 3 win over Chicago. Emil Leonard was hit by the Sox for a three-run rally in the eighth but the Washington hurler cut it off before the tying run could be scored.

Denny Galehouse's four-hit pitching blanked the Philadelphia Athletics to give the St. Louis Browns a 3 to 0 victory last night.

And Now—Woman High School Coach; Promises Surprise

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 20.—And now—the woman football coach.

She's comely, blonde-haired Pauline Rugh, new coach of the Bell Township High school grid squad in nearby Salina.

Miss Rugh, a 1942 graduate of Pennsylvania State college where she majored in physical education, was selected to coach the team when the war took all the available male coaching material on the high school's faculty.

Promises Surprise

The new coach doesn't expect the fans to be to taken back when she steps on the field in the fall, but she does promise to have one surprise in store for them at the opening kick off—the Bell township football system

"I'm going to have a system all of my own. No Rockne, Warner or Shaughnessy stuff for me. It's going to be a surprise to everyone—even myself," she says.

Miss Rugh declares she doesn't expect any difficulty demonstrating to the boys the art of "submarine" tackling or offensive blocking, but she's a bit worried about teaching kicking.

"Yes, there will be trouble there," she says, but doesn't care to get specific.

Never Played Game

Miss Rugh was active in soccer, basketball and badminton at Penn State, but never played football. "But I like the game and this is a war emergency, so I volunteered to help out," is her explanation.

Coach Rugh won't receive any extra salary for her gridiron work, but all the 'labor of love" is likely to come from the players when they see their trim coach ankle on the field.

She'll win her share of games, too, one wag of an opposing coach believes, until the boys start throwing passes.

PGA Executive Committee Gets Kirkwood Case

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—The "Ryder cup incident" today landed in the laps of the national executive committee of the Professional Golfers' association following the unanimous refusal of the Philadelphia section of the PGA to accept Joe Kirkwood's resignation.

Eight members of the Philadelphia board of governors demanded an "immediate investigation" of the circumstances which prevented Kirkwood from playing on the Ryder cup challenge squad in Detroit, August 8.

Kirkwood, famous trick shot artist, allegedly has "proof" that Freddie Corcoran, PGA tournament manager, and Walter Hagen had invited him to play in the match but subsequently left him out of the lineup

Legion Team Off For Lewistown

Members of the American Legion Junior baseball team left this morning for Lewistown, Pa., where this afternoon they will meet the Lewistown team in the start of the statewide elimination series.

The team will return home following the game, and will be hosts to the Lewistown team in a doubleheader here. The local management is still uncertain about these games. The locals want to play Sunday, giving the team a rest period, while the Lewistown group want to play tomorrow. A decision will be reached after the game this afternoon.

The double bill here will be played on Marshall Field.

Morgrets Annex 14th Softball Win

Paddling 14 hits, the Morgrets added their 14th straight victory Thursday night when they routed the Lohmans, 10-6, in a United Engineering Softball league second half skirmish, played on Gaston Park field.

Coach Tony Pegnato, Slugger Russo, Zuk, "Lefty" Rozak and Gabby DeCaprio led the winners' attack. DeCaprio hit three doubles.

Tonight, the Morgrets play the Gallaghers on Clifton Flats field.

Indies-Moose Side By Side; Both Nab Wins

Rivals Tied For City Loop Second Half Crown With 10 Triumphs, 4 Losses

Heavy hitting by Rainey, Anderson, Hall, Thomas and Smiley featured Thursday night's City Baseball league battles as the Moose and Lawrence Indies kept side by side in their conflict for the second half bauble.

On Mahoning field the Indies came from behind to subdue Dory Gunnett's Elder crew, 7-5. Winning Pitcher Anderson aided his cause by clouting a homer. Rainey stroked three hits, one of them a double, and Koszela fattened his average with two bingles.

Hall Troublesome

Hall was chief trouble-maker for the losers. He dented the hit column three times, while Raymond counted two singles.

The Elders forged ahead 4-2 in the second, but the Indies erased the margin in the fourth with a deuce after getting one in the third. Gunnett handed out 10 hits and two walks, while Anderson's offerings landed in safe terrain 10 times.

Manager Zidow's club thus gathered its 10th win to keep time with the Moose.

Moose Easy Winner

Counting a half dozen times in the third, the Moose easily quelled the Pottery, 11-3, on Lee avenue field.

For good measure the Moose pushed across three more markers in the sixth.

Ferrante hurled a four-hitter Knight stepped on the knoll to aid the classy Moose flinger. Laitinen was hit freely. He gave up 13 blows, including a triple by Thomas.

KOCHEL FINDS NEW TRAINING TOUGH GOING

(International News Service)

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., Aug. 20.—"Holding down a guard spot on the famous Fordham seven blocks of granite line was a tough assignment but the football seasons with the Rams never found me in the rugged shape this Aviation Cadet training has me in right now."

The speaker was Aviation Cadet Michael J. Kochel of Bloomfield, N. J., who attained fame for opening holes in opponent's big enough for his backfield teammates to pour through during 1936, '37 and '38 for Commander Bill Crowley's Fordham Rams.

Union Gridiron Prospects Meet Tonight In Gym

There'll be a distinct football atmosphere around Scotland Lane tonight as Union Township High's grid candidates gather in the gymnasium for their initial session.

Principal M. A. Patterson today said that it is important for every Unionite expecting to play to be present at the meeting.

Sharon's Football Squad Is Small

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 20.—Only 25 candidates will report for Sharon high school's football team this year.

Coach David Stewart will handle the entire squad alone, since his assistants, Parker Wildman and Paul Hoskins, have resigned to devote their entire time to teaching.

Sharon plays at New Castle on October 8.

Sports Ramblings

'Round the sports globe:---

Wanna see Attorney Robert L. Wallace's face beam? O. K. Then ask him if he ever scored a hole-in-one. The barrister unleashed the "dream swing" day before yesterday at Castle Hills on the 150-yard par 3 No. 7. Wallace, who was touring the fairways with W. J. Offutt, Attorney James A. Chambers and J. Clyde Gilfillan, jotted down a neat 42 on his score card . . . .

Speaking of golf, Grover C. Washabaugh, the jovial Westminster college basketball mentor, now is a zealous member of the niblick swinging circle. Dr. Freeman, retired science teacher, forms part of the Washabaugh foursome which gathers quite frequently for a round. The Titan coach, they tell me, is as tough as his cage quints. Which means that he's plenty rough to handle . . .

Jack Gerson, the jeweler and among the top sportsmen in the county, bemoans the fact that his fishing skill goes for naught around county streams. Gerson, whose summer home in the East Brook sector has everything, and I do mean everything, has yet to catch as much as a minnow this year. He tosses his line a couple of times weekly . . .

Looking extremely chipper in his U. S. Marine uniform, Pfc. Fred Maciarello, the south side sports impressario, stopped in for a chinfest before returning to his Philly base. He says that local Marines in Philly (Jack Flansburg, Jack DiCarlo Russ McBride, Elmer Minteer, Peter Panzam, Walter Tewell, Alex Pascarella, Dominick Russo, Patsy Russo, Mickey Salmen, Vince Audino, "Hitch" Hanna and Huffman) "are getting along swell and they send back greetings" . . . .

With the Yankees and Cardinals almost certain to battle in the series classic, I know how the New Yorkers can pull a master stroke and practically cinch the ribbon even before it's played. All the Yanks have to do is buy Al Gerhauser, the Philly flinger. Thus far, the twirler, as you undoubtedly know, has beaten the Cards four times. What would he do behind a real team? . . . .

Pittsburgh's surprising Pirates may play an exhibition game at Camp Shenango on September 14 . . . Col. "Lighthorse" Harry Wilson, the Penn State-Army grid flash in the early mid-twenties, is in the South Pacific with the Army Air Corps . . . Alabama will be the next big name school to scratch football . . . Henry Armstrong has pocketed $150,000 since he started his current comeback . . . Jimmy Dykes, the White Sox manager, has been thumbed out but once this season which is nearly incredible and enuf for today . . . .

Byrd-Cochran 11 Under Par; Win Golf Title

By LEO FISCHER
(International News Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Having smashed par into numerous tiny bits in the opening day's pro-amateur event, 42 of the nation's top golfers today awaited tee-off time in the first round of the Victory National tournament at the Beverly Country club.

Sam Byrd, the Philadelphia professional and one-time outfielder for the New York Yankees, teamed with Bob Cochran of St. Louis to win the first day's pro-amateur championship.

Finish 11 Under Par

Playing 36 holes, with the better score of the twosome counting at each hole, the victorious Byrd-Cochrane duo finished 11 strokes under par with 31-33-35-32, for a total of 131. Even then they weren't assured of a triumph until the last scores were in.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden, who captured the recent $10,000 Tam O-Shanter tournament, with his partner, Sgt. Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia, wound up in the second spot one stroke behind.

No fewer than 21 of yesterday's 31 combinations wound up with better than par—142.

Ten amateurs were included in the brilliant field scheduled to start play today in the first 18 of the 72-hole medal play test, which winds up Sunday afternoon.

The net proceeds of the tournament will provide extra comforts for wounded veterans of World War II.

Shenango Gridders To Meet Monday

Shenango Township high 1943 football candidates will meet in the school gymnasium on Monday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock, Coach Eddie Nahas announced today.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Ivan Parke, former ace jockey, has sold his string of three horses and signed a contract as trainer for F. W. Hooper, owner of a stable at Jacksonville, Fla., it was disclosed at the Detroit Fairgrounds race track today. Hooper, whose entries will appear for the first time this winter, has an expensive string of horses, including a $17,500 chestnut colt by Questionnaire, a $17,000 gray colt by Mahmoud and a $10,200 bay colt by Sir Gallahad. Parke's three horses were Try Fin, Purple Wrack and Bip.

The saga of Greenville and Darke county adds another chapter August 23 through August 27, when the 88th annual county fair will pay out $43,600 in purses for a five-day harness race meeting. Until reports to the contrary are received, that's the top payoff in the country for a five-day county fair.

Peter Wellman of the Mahoning Country club, Youngstown, has announced that he had contacted Joe Kirkwood and the Professional Golf Association of America, seeking the Kirkwood-Walter Hagen "grudge match" for the Mahoning course.

Pvt. Martin Bryant of Dallas and the U. S. Army, and George (Sonny) Horne, of Niles, O., fought to an eight-round draw in the main event of a fight card in New York City. The decision was booed by the majority of the 3,300 spectators. Bryant weighed 158 and Horne 161.

The appointment of Lieut. William F. Kern, former All-American tackle on Pittsburgh's 1928 Rose Bowl team, as coach at the Navy Preflight school at Del Monte, Calif., was announced today. Kern formerly was head football coach at Carnegie Tech and West Virginia university.

Larry Pallante, 15-year-old outfielder for the Brier Hill A. C., Youngstown, has signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates and will report to one of their farms—probably Hornell, N. Y.—next season. Pallante is six feet tall and weighs 145 pounds. A good hitter, Pallante also takes his turn on the mound.

Coach Frank Thomas has indicated that football would be dropped by the University of Alabama as an intercollegiate sport for the duration.

The Canton, O., Pistol club will stage its third annual tournament at the Howenstine range, seven miles south of Canton on route 8, or Sunday, Aug. 29.

CHICAGO PRO GRID TEAMS OFF TODAY FOR TRAINING DENS

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—The exodus of Chicago's two professional football teams, the Bears and the Cardinals, for their training quarters began today.

Thirty of the Bears left this morning for training camp at St. John's Military Academy, Delafield, Wis., and 32 of the Cardinals were to leave this afternoon for Waukesha, Wis.

Marshall Goldberg, former Pittsburgh all-American back, signed his Cardinal contract and joined the squad.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Today we pass along to you all a little poem that was sent to a Father from his son who is now serving with Uncle Sam's Navy . . . Robert E. Young 2/c.

A PRAYER ON EVERY STAR

"Good-by, my boy," my father said
That day I left my home
"My love goes with you everywhere
No matter where you roam;
On land or sea, on train or ship
On mountain peak or plain;
In happy days or loneliness
In laughter, joy or pain."

"Good-by, my boy," he said it so,
With tenderness and love;
"Each night whatever stars may shine
In God's clear skies above,
Remember I am watching them
And you may watch them too;
The same white stars that shine on me,
Those same shall shine on you."

"Good-by, my boy," and when you look
Into those starlit skies
We both shall see the selfsame stars
With loving, lonely eyes;
And I shall lift a prayer for you,
Whatever ships you sail,
Whatever sea, whatever land,
My love shall never fail:"

"Good-by, my boy," my father said
Through misty, tear-dimmed eyes;
"I'll hang a prayer on every star
That shine in God's blue skies."
So, when I watch the stars by night
His words come back to me
And I can feel his love and care
On foreign land and sea.

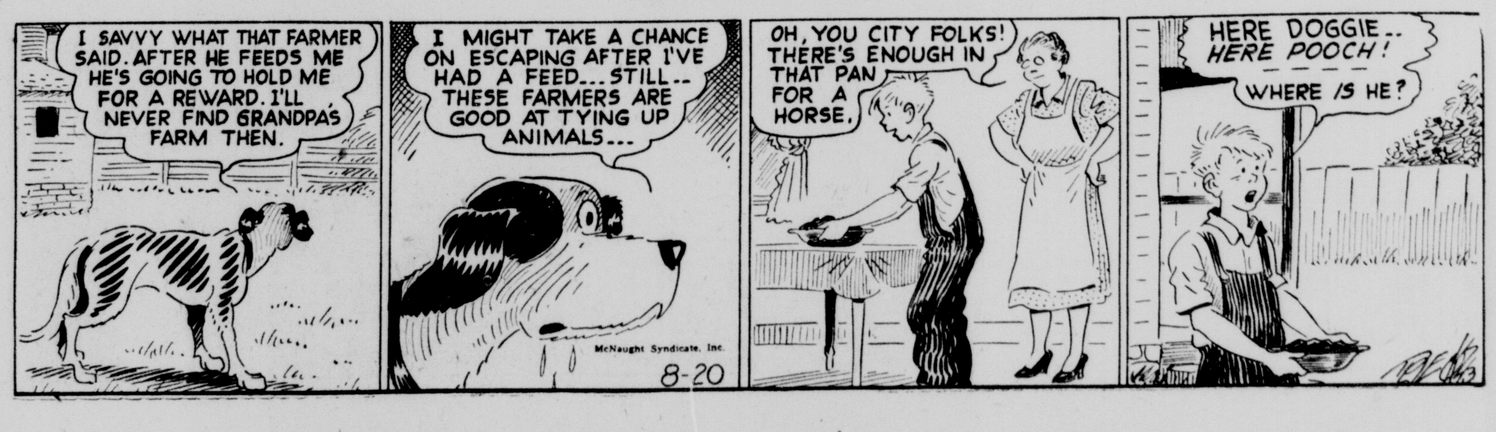

"Good-by, my boy," what tender words;
How filled with love and light.
They warm my heart and hush my fears
As I stand watch by night.
And so, five thousand miles away
From home is not so far
Because I know my father hangs
A prayer on every star.

—WILLIAM L. STIDGER.

STOCKS

MARKET DRIFTS SLIGHTLY LOWER

Losses Rarely Exceed Fractions In Mixed Opening; Trading Still Slow

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—The stock market drifted irregularly lower today after a mixed opening. Losses, however, were slight and rarely exceeded fractions.

Trading continued slowly with sales holding around yesterday's volume of 468,727 shares, third lowest of the year.

Chrysler was a weak spot, dropping a point at one time, in a generally lower motors group. Aviations were also under pressure as were rails, rubbers, and coppers. Steels and rails were generally lower after early steadiness.

Other leaders showing slight losses were Pullman, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Steel, U. S. Rubber, and Parmount.

Texas Corp., which had good support yesterday and Pepsi-Cola and Western Union advanced fractions. Union Carbide was up a point at one time but fell back later, while Southern Pacific lost an early gain.

Thursday Night Social Affairs

Enjoyable Club Meetings Take Place At Various Homes In Community

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 20.—Among the many enjoyable club meetings of Thursday were:

500 Club

At the home of Mrs. Arthur McElwain, Border avenue, members of the 500 club assembled with Mrs. William Desport and Mrs. W. Anderson being special guests.

Cards were featured with the attractive prizes going to Mrs. Russell Book, Mrs. McElwain and Mrs. Michael Huber. Mrs. Galen Biddle aided in serving pleasing refreshments.

Members were invited to meet again in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Bert Strutt, South street.

E. G. G. Club

Mrs. Everett Garwig was a gracious hostess at her Ellport home to members of the E. G. G. club.

Nice high prizes for 500 were given to Mrs. Jacob Seetch, Mrs. Alvie Klindienst and Mrs. Garwig. Mrs. Earl Majors aided in serving a dainty lunch.

Another meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Jacob Seetch, Ellport.

Townsend Club

A card and bingo party followed the regular meeting of the Townsend club last night with the award winners being:

Mrs. Gladys Hill and Mrs. W. C. Morrison for 500; Mrs. Mary Christie and Mrs. Lewis Young for bingo; and G. H. Bauder and Bert Gallaugher for euchre. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Pearl Shanor and Mrs. Mackey with refreshments being served by Mrs. G. H. Bauder and committee.

At the regular meeting on next Thursday night, plans will be made for the annual corn roast.

Just Us Club

Just Us club members enjoyed a picnic supper last night at the Gillespie cottage at Shadyrest.

The group of twenty enjoyed cards and bingo with the various awards going to Mrs. Edna Steinbach, Mrs. Minnie Anderson, Harvey Smith, Bernard Beegle, Mrs. Ruth Weaver and Leatrice Miesel.

Thursday, September 16, is the time of the next meeting.

J. F. F. Club

At the home of Mrs. Joseph Book, Line avenue, members of the J. F. F. club assembled with Mrs. Effie Dunkle being a special guest.

Nice awards for cards went to Mrs. Leonard Nagel, Mrs. Mary Hill and Mrs. T. L. Patterson. Ruth and Margaret Bookamer aided in serving a refreshing lunch.

Members were invited to meet on Thursday, September 2, at the home of Mrs. Anna Franz, Line avenue.

Hi Lo Club

Five hundred held the attention of Hi Lo club members who gathered at the home of Mrs. F. T. Rodgers, First avenue.

Award winners were Mrs. Jesse Hayden, Mrs. Clair McKim and Mrs. Loyal Romack. Mrs. Glenn Gallaher was a special guest and aided in serving appealing refreshments.

Mrs. Jesse Hayden invited the club to meet in two weeks at her home, in Fourth street.

Pythian Past Chiefs

After the regular meeting of the Pythian Sisters Lodge, last night in the bank hall, members of the Past Chiefs club assembled for a social evening.

Prizes for bingo went to Mrs. Ida Wehman and Mrs. Rosalie Kneiss, and for 500 to Mrs. Minnie Yoho and Miss Nellie Grinnen. Mrs. Grace Laird and committee served delicious refreshments.

Castlewood Class Honors Mrs. Wehman

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 20—Mrs. Mildred Campbell was a pleasant hostess last night to members of the Young Ladies class of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church of Castlewood.

Devotions were led by the teacher, Mrs. Ruth Van Horne. Featuring the evening was the presentation of a lovely gift to Mrs. Lawrence Wehman (Eloise Jones), whose wedding was a recent event.

Eleanor Reese aided the hostess in serving a refreshing lunch, and invited the class to meet at her Castlewood home on Monday, September 27.

Mrs. George Cover was removed to her home, in Squaw Run road, last night from the Beaver Valley General hospital, New Brighton, where she recently underwent an operation. Her condition is satisfactory.

Chicago Beauty

Rotarians Hear Valley Minister

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 20.—A most interesting talk on Adolescent Psychology was given to members of the Rotary club at the weekly dinner meeting last night at the Reformed church by Dr. Smith, of New Brighton. Erle B. Yahn introduced the speaker.

A past president's pin was presented to Al Milbrath, and David J. Jones was welcomed as a new member.

Doll Funeral On Saturday

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 20.—Funeral services for John Jackson Doll, who passed away on Wednesday afternoon after a lingering illness at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Dashield, of Lawrence avenue, will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Services will take place at the Love Hope Baptist church with Interment to follow in Clinton cemetery. Rev. F. F. Ponder will officiate. Friends will be received tonight at the W. D. Porter funeral home.

LEGIONNAIRES AT ROCHESTER

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 20.—Wayne Baird, Dan Evans, D. E. Cain, Ralph Little and W. P. Simpson of the J. Wilbur Randolph post attended the Beaver County American Legion committee meeting last night at Rochester.

William Mitsch and Michael Cain were elected delegates to the national convention to be held in Omaha, Neb., and D. E. Cain of Ellwood was chosen as alternate delegate.

The Aliquippa post served as host and the Ellwood unit will be host for the next meeting on Thursday, September 16, at Rochester.

HARMONY BAPTIST PICNIC

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 20.—The annual Sunday school picnic of the Harmony Baptist church will be held on Saturday at Ewing park. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock, and a sports program has been arranged for 4 p. m. Those wanting transportation are to meet at the church at 3:45 o'clock.

Mrs. Frank Stamm Honored By Class

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 20.—The eighty-fifth birthday anniversary of Mrs. Frank Stamm, to be an event of August 31, was celebrated in a delightful manner on Thursday at her home, on the Zelienople road by members of the Queen Esther class of the Trinity Lutheran church.

At noon, the members and three special guests, Mrs. Anna Texter, Mrs. William Hunter and Mrs. Vesta Brenneman, enjoyed a delicious tureen dinner. The table was centered with a large birthday cake which was presented to the honor guest.

In the afternoon a devotional period was led by Mrs. H. F. Fleischer. Plans were made to have the annual "dollar-day" tureen dinner on Monday evening, September 20, at the home of Mrs. George Blank, Wayne avenue.

Cecil Johnston Buried Thursday

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 20.—Funeral services for Cecil C. Johnston, prominent Meadville banker who died on Tuesday afternoon at the Jameson Memorial hospital, New Castle, were held on Thursday afternoon from the First Baptist church, Meadville.

The pastor, Rev. Spiller, conducted the very largely attended services. Committal rites were held at the local Slippery Rock mausoleum, and were attended by a large number of local relatives and friends, and relatives from Pittsburgh and the Beaver Valley.

The local Masonic lodge, of which he was a member, conducted ritualistic services with Paul Reynolds as chaplain.

BAPTIST SOCIETY MEETS AT CHURCH

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 20.—Members of the Women's Missionary society of the First Baptist church gathered last night at the church for an informal dinner meeting.

Arrangements were in charge of Missionary Group Four. Mrs. Joseph McDanel, of Elmira, N. Y., who is visiting here, was a special guest.

The society will resume regular meetings on Thursday evening, September 16.

PHILATHEA CLASS

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 20.—Philathea class members of the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church enjoyed a swimming party and picnic last evening at Huber's Beach with arrangements in charge of Miss Lucille Friday.

George Burrows of Ellwood City has been admitted to the Beaver Valley General hospital, New Brighton, and Mrs. Marie Peffer, Portersville, has been discharged.

Playgrounds End Successful Season

Best Average Daily Attendance In Eight Years Is Recorded

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 20.—The local playgrounds rung down the curtain today when all equipment on all the grounds was stored away until next year. The average daily attendance on all play spots was 903 which is the best daily average turned in for the past eight years.

Working with an all feminine playground instructors staff, with the exception of Harold Burry who supervised the West End playground, a banner year of activities was also turned in. A report on the handicraft work made this summer on the local playgrounds was turned in to the National Recreation headquarters, and local playground commission members are hopeful of Ellwood City receiving first place in cities of 14,000 and under population.

Last year Ellwood City captured third place in the nation on handicraft work which is rated by the publishers of the National Recreation magazine.

Dorothy Joan and Mary Ellen Kumrow, of Mahoningtown, are spending two weeks with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, of the Ellwood-Zelienople road.

Industrial Bowling League Is Organized

Six Teams To Take Part In Fall And Winter Project Of C. Of C. Unit

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 20.—The Industrial Bowling league under the sponsorship of the manufacturers division of the Chamber of Commerce was formed last night with six teams definitely in the league.

Teams to be represented will be National Tube No. 1 and No. 2 teams, captained by Albert Emilko and Clarence MacDonald; United Tube company, captained by Art Restid; Ellwood Forge company, captained by Charlie Hangst; Ellwood company, captained by Ed. Wise, and the Aetna-Standard Engineering company, who will be piloted by John Runyan.

Clarence "Sing" MacDonald was elected president of the league and R. J. Schill secretary and treasurer. An executive committee consisting of Nick Bauer, Ed. Wise and Art Restid was appointed to draw up the prize money schedule for the league. League play will start around September 16 and finish around the last of April.

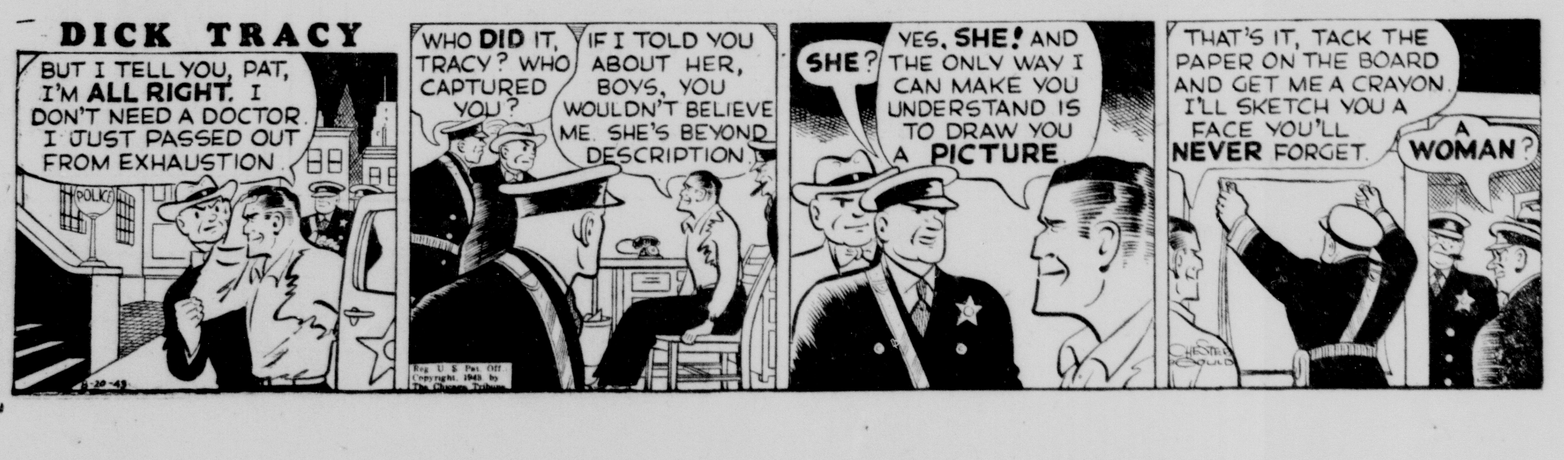

Ten men are allowed on each team roster and eligibility lists must be turned into the secretary by September 6. Home alleys for the two National Tube teams will be the Shelby Social club alleys and the Ellwood Forge, Aetna-Standard, United Tube and Ellwood companies will have alleys 1-2-5-6 at the Palace Annex as their home alleys.

All league play will be on Thursday evenings and A.B.C. rules will prevail. The Manufacturers Division of the Chamber of Commerce will furnish the league banquet, individual charms and winner and runner-up trophies.

Mrs. Frances Falen, Ellwood City, has been discharged from the Osteopathic hospital, Grove City.
